My dear Dr. Allen:

Our instructor in general practical Physical Education and playground work has requested me to order a "Goal-Hi" standard as he wishes to include this in his program. I have ordered the same for him. I am writing you regarding this to let you know that I think the price which the Medart Company charges for this movable and adjustable standard is a "damned holdup" and I believe you would be smart to try to get them to cut that price about in half as I believe the price will generally be considered an imposition and people will refuse to pay that amount. It is my frank opinion that that standard could be made for five dollars and, under present conditions, if I had inquiries coming to me from the schools in the state regarding this my recommendation to them would be that they improvise a standard and save about twenty-five dollars. From what little I know of the game it seems to me that it should go over big as an addition to either an outdoor or indoor recreative program but I do believe this price for goal is going to pull down the sales tremendously. Of course you will take my criticism for what you think it is worth but I felt that I should let you know frankly my reaction.

With kindest regards and wishing you a pleasant summer, I am

Very sincerely yours

R. G. Clapp, M.C.

Chairman Physical Education for men.
