

August 27, 1943.

Hon. Chandler Jarvis,
Winfield, Kansas.

Dear Chandler:

I am sending you in confidence a copy of a letter written me by Bob and Clarence Bramnum's mother. I am also sending you a copy of my reply to her. I am sending, also, copies to Harry Janicke.

I would appreciate you two loyal alumni getting your heads together and giving me the benefit of your information on these boys. I am sure that I can use them very nicely and will be glad to help them in every possible way if they are interested in helping themselves.

I do know that a lot of schools have been after them and have made some attractive offers, so I am wondering how this letter came to me from the mother. If she is interested, as she says she is, in having these boys at the University there is no good reason why they should not be here. We can offer them plenty of work - much more than has ever been offered before on account of the small civilian enrollment.

Please remember me to Mrs. Jarvis and your fine family. I have never forgotten the kindnesses shown me by you and Mrs. Jarvis in your lovely home, and I do want you to know, Chandler, that I appreciate your taking your time out of your busy life to call on Gerald and Mrs. Tucker out at their cottage. You remember what I promised Gerald at his home that morning - three of the toughest years of competition in the Big Six. Well, don't you agree that he has been getting it?

With all good wishes, I am

Very cordially yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
