

February 22, 1940.

Mr. R. E. Weinzettel,
Medart Manufacturing Co.,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Roy:

I have your favor of the 20th instant and assure you of my hearty cooperation in helping put the information before the people that would help your company with the convex back-board.

You will remember that I wrote you and Mr. Medart about this very thing. I thought that it might be possible that I could assist as a technical advisor in aiding you legitimately without using pressure on anyone in helping present this convex board in a most efficient manner. Since you were in business I thought I was writing a business letter, but apparently it was misunderstood by Mr. Medart.

Since that time I have decided that you did not need the contemplated help, that you could engineer it from your own firm, and while I have cooperated one hundred per cent with you, I have not gone out of my way as I did heretofore in fighting to put across this board for you. I thought your firm possessed all of the talented men necessary for this work. If I am in error I will be glad to have you correct me.

With all good wishes, I am

Very cordially yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
