

January 21, 1939.

Mr. Louis E. Menze,
Iowa State College,
Ames, Iowa.

Dear Louie:

Well, we had a big mix up on our officials at Kansas State. Pierce Astle states that he was advised that the game started at 8 o'clock in your telegram. He showed me your letter of confirmation, but it didn't give the time of the game. Consequently, he got there 15 minutes late and we started with one official.

Don't you think, Louie, it would be a good thing on each official that you obtain, even substitute officials, to send them a complete list of the starting time of all the home games?

This was a tough game to handle single-handedly or doubly. I talked to Pierce after the game and this is the information that he gave me. Your wire said 8 o'clock and the letter had no time information.

Carroll and HasBrouck will be satisfactory to us for officials at Iowa State.

I thought I should advise you about the mix up at Manhattan.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
