Dear Captain Getz:

I have been trying to figure a way in which I could attend your ceremonies Saturday afternoon, and have delayed writing you for that reason. However, a former member of my varsity basketball team is to be married Saturday afternoon, and I had previously accepted an invitation to his wedding.

I regret that it will not be possible for me to be present at the Advisory Board meeting. During the winter months I have basketball practice every afternoon, and it is generally impossible for me to attend afternoon meetings. However, if meetings are called for the evening I will make an effort to be present if at all possible.

Very sincerely yours,
