

December 7, 1942.

Mr. Jack Griffin, Jr.,
476 New Customhouse,
Denver, Colorado.

Dear Jack:

It is a pleasure to do this small job for you and I sincerely trust that this enclosed letter will get the job done. I was happy to know that you are well acquainted with Dick Wells. Give him my regards. I see where President Roosevelt is going to discontinue the WPA, so I imagine Dick will get in something else. He would make a swell officer candidate for the Marines. He is a tough guy and a fine leader.

The Allens are all well. Thank you, Jack. Mit is here and is attorney for the Hercules Powder Company. He graduated in law this summer. He came back from the oil fields three years ago and went winter and summer until he got his degree. Three days after he graduated this summer he was hired as investigator, and then the assistant investigator got into a jam and Mit was promoted to that position. He lives at 2022 Vermont Street. I know that he would be happy to hear from you.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
