Mr. J. C. Grover,
Attorney-at-Law,
Dierks Building,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Jack:

About a year ago you wrote me saying that you had some basketball rule books that you would be kind enough to give me if I would drop by your office to pick them up, and of course say "hello".

You know, Jack, it is an actual fact that I have not been in Kansas City for more than two or three times at the outset for a year. And those times were either to speak at the Health and Physical Education Association banquet, or on my way to Minneapolis or Chicago. I have not been there in the day time during your office hours so that I could drop in and say "hello" without an interruption to you.

I am coming in Wednesday to see Clyde McBride for about 20 minutes, and I am going to drop by and see you even though you might have disposed of those books. Of course, I couldn't blame you if you had thrown them away a long time ago because the way I have acted it wouldn't impress a fellow that I was much interested, but I assure you that I do appreciate your thoughtfulness and kindness in asking me if I wanted them.

The only two times that I have seen you, and those were very pleasant but short occasions, were at the Kansas-Missouri football game in Lawrence last fall, and at the Big Six indoor track meet at Columbia. Both were short but pleasant meetings, and I am hoping to see you this Wednesday.

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
