Mr. F. C. Allen,
Kansas University,
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Sir:

Will you, at your convenience, send me information concerning Big-six eligibility rules? I have heard several conflicting views on the three year eligibility clause. As I understand it a boy can go to junior college and still have his three years eligibility, if he wants to use them. If I am wrong will you please explain the correct conception of this rule?

I earned a letter in basketball at Westport High school last year. After spending all my money in business college I am working at the Kansas City Star. As my plans--and cash--stand at present I will have to attend Junior College for two years, and then I hope to go to K. U. As I am working my way it might be difficult to go out for basketball, but I really want to.

Your information will be very much appreciated.

Sincerely,

Curvin H. Greene
