Professor L. N. Flint,
Department of Journalism.

Dear L. N.:

I am writing to thank you for your good letter, and to tell you that it certainly does let you out. Any man who would put as much money as you did in that stadium fund doesn't owe them a copper penny, let alone one of the substitutes that Uncle Sam is putting out now for pennies.

I know you will be happy to know that we have given Bob a game of basketball on February 6th for his Naval Transport team. Your Bob and Mit got together and said they would like to play a game over here, so we fixed them up.

I spent a very pleasant evening with your son and his wife. So I know the Flint family will be on hand for Tuesday night, February 6th. The boys over there are getting 300 complimentary tickets, so you speak to your son to see that he supplies the Flint family with the proper ducats.

Very sincerely yours,
