

TODAY

"A Store Manager Reports" - - - - - "Curley" Miller

COMING MEETINGS

March 7 - "The Romance of Steel" - U. S. Steel Company Picture - Technicolor
 March 14 - "Unfinished Rainbows" - A story of Aluminum
 March 21 - "Vision" - Dr. M. C. Raffel
 March 28 - "Easter In A War Torn World" - John Dawson

Visitors last week included Frank W. Long and T. C. Zeller of McKeesport Club and Ed Hartman of Braddock and George Neidermyer of Glassport, all Rotarians. Our High School speaker was Miss Patricia Sullivan and our speaker, "Jim" Ralston, who in his interesting style, gave us a brief history of Rotary thru the past forty years.

It would be good for all of us, perhaps, to read the Dumbarton Oaks plan for peace. At least it is the one most of the religious groups are urging that we familiarize ourselves with.

On the Eastern Front, the Russians, are running into the same old problem of War, as they drive Berlinward: supplies. It looks from the view of this observer as though things have slowed down considerably and will soon reach at least a temporary halt unless the supply problem can be solved.

At least the War Department is no longer trying to kid the American people about the casualties of War or the cost of invasions. The news from Iwo bears this out we think.

Shame on the six Rotarians who sank our Attendance Average two weeks ago. Let's do our best to keep that Average as high as possible. Make up if you possibly can arrange to do so.

If you want to hear a lengthy lecture on the advantages and joys of being from Kansas, sit down with Norm, some Wednesday Noon. To hear him tell it that place is the garden spot of the Nation.

Orchids to President "Art" for his good work as President.

Bill Irlam is still talking about that Turkey dinner we had here on Ladies' Night.

"Final peace may come rather quickly or it may come slowly", recently reported a news correspondent. It is this sort of rash and unguarded statement that endangers the nation.

Many a man owes his success to being fired...with enthusiasm.

To a clergyman, everybody is a fire risk.

Ideal Audience

I know his stories all by heart,
 Yet when the crowd is new,
 He has such fun repeating them
 That I enjoy them too.

---Submitted by a long-suffering wife.

The only thing that seems to be able to stay in some people's heads longer than twelve hours is a cold.