Dear Doc,

I am writing you in regard to the small college All-Star football poll which takes place each fall, and I would like some help if you feel that you have time and wish to help me.

My name has been placed on this poll, and I would like very much to get elected (through votes) to a place upon this team. They play in Chicago in September, and those lucky enough to get to go get $150, an "All-American" sweater, a blanket, game suit, and expenses. These benefits would go a long way toward helping me alleviate my school obligations, besides aiding me materially in getting a job teaching and coaching. These ballots come out soon and are due in July, so if there is anything you feel you can do for me, I would consider it a great favor.

I ask you for this help because of our friendship, and because I know you can do much for me.

Please advise.

Sincerely,

Jack Hall
