

October 19, 1939.

Mr. Dave Horkmans,
Army-Navy Hospital,
Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Dear Dave:

I dropped in at the postoffice yesterday to mail a book and found much to my surprise that you had gone to Hot Springs quite some time ago. I did not notice the account in the paper, and when the boys told me at the postoffice I was greatly surprised.

I sincerely trust that your rest down there has done you worlds of good and that you are feeling much as if you were your old self again. I understand from the boys that Mrs. Horkmans drove you down, but that she has returned.

Lots of good luck to you, Dave, and be sure to get back in time for that Kansas State game on November 3rd, that is if you can do so without endangering your health.

The boys are starting for Oklahoma tomorrow and there are some who believe that Gwinn has the wizardry to play them a close game. However, the majority feel there is just too much power at Norman for Gwinn's immature charges.

With all good luck to you for your health, happiness and general well-being, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

FCA:AH