

HOLLAND-AMERICA LINE

R. M. S. Veendam

June 20, 1934

Dear Dr. Allen,

Please pardon the poor handwriting and letter, but the boat is rocking very badly this evening. We left New York some three days ago and are now about nine-hundred miles off the coast of the United States. This trip is truly an experience much greater than I had hoped for. A person certainly meets various types of people on a boat. We boys