Mr. Brutus Hamilton,

University of California,
Berkeley, California.

Dear Brutus:

Your very interesting and lovely letter of September 30 has arrived.

Thank you very much for your compliments on the book, "Better Basketball". I am glad to know that you enjoyed it.

I am enclosing some tear sheets from the October issue of The Rotarian which you may already have seen. After you read the two articles I would be very happy to have you send me your criticisms. I shall be glad to hear from you and have your ideas.

Thank you for the information in regard to the Rose Bowl tickets. Of course, if California does win the championship we will call on you. It will be very gracious of you to help Mrs. Lewis.

We, too, were deeply shocked to read of the death of Ormand Beach. He was a fine gentleman and sportsman. His wife's address is - Mrs. Ormand Beach, 160 Cobden Street, Samia, Ontario, Canada.

It was good to hear from you, Brutus, and I trust your year is starting out in fine shape.

With all good wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,

Sept. 30, 1938.

Dear Dr. Allen.

It was good to hear from you again. Good, too, to read of the fine victory over Texas.

I was terribly shocked to read of the death of Ormond Beach. He was a grand boy and, I understand, was making splendid progress. Would you please convey my deepest sympathy to his family? If you have the address of his parents or of his wife I would appreciate getting it as I should like to write to them.

There is really not much you can do for Mrs. Lewis until you know which teams are selected for the Rose Bowl. Just as soon as the Pacific Coast representative is selected I suggest that you write or wire some friend at that institution and let him know your wants. In the event California is selected again your worries are over as I'll see that Mrs. Lewis gets them. However our selection is by no means assured, in fact, its most unlikely, I'll do what I can whoever is selected and I feel reasonably certain of success. There is nothing however, to be done on the matter until the selection is made.

I have had time to read your entire book and hail it as one of the very few books which make a real contribution to one's athletic library. Your "Tales of Yesteryear" is well conceived and beautifully done, your inclusion of the poems a real asset, and your description of the technique of the game and treatment of injuries is not only excellent but entertainingly told. You've done a grand job and I thank you again for my copy. I trust the book is meeting with the success it so richly deserves.

With kindest regards to you and yours and to all the gang on Oread. I am, as of old,
Sincerely yours, Brentus.

Dear Art:

I received your letter and check for $15.75 for seven tickets for the Nebraska-Kansas football game.

As you know, I have nothing to do with the sale of tickets, but I left your request with Mr. Earl Falkenstien, financial secretary of the Athletic Association, and I am very sure that you will get some excellent seats.

There is a charge of 15¢ for insured postage, which you did not include in your check, and this may be sent to Mr. Falkenstien.

It was a pleasure to do this small favor for you, and I trust you will call on me any time.

October 3, 1938

Dear Subscriber:-

I am always glad of an opportunity to write to our subscribers, because while we are naturally pleased at winning new readers, we are more concerned with keeping our old ones.

Just now I am writing to remind you as gently as possible that your valued subscription to Harpers Magazine will expire with the November issue - unless, of course, your order has crossed this letter in the mails.

This is not to be regarded as a high pressure sales letter. Since most of our readers renew their subscriptions as a matter of course, such a thing would not only be annoying but ridiculous. Besides, I could not think of any argument so persuasive as the magazine itself.

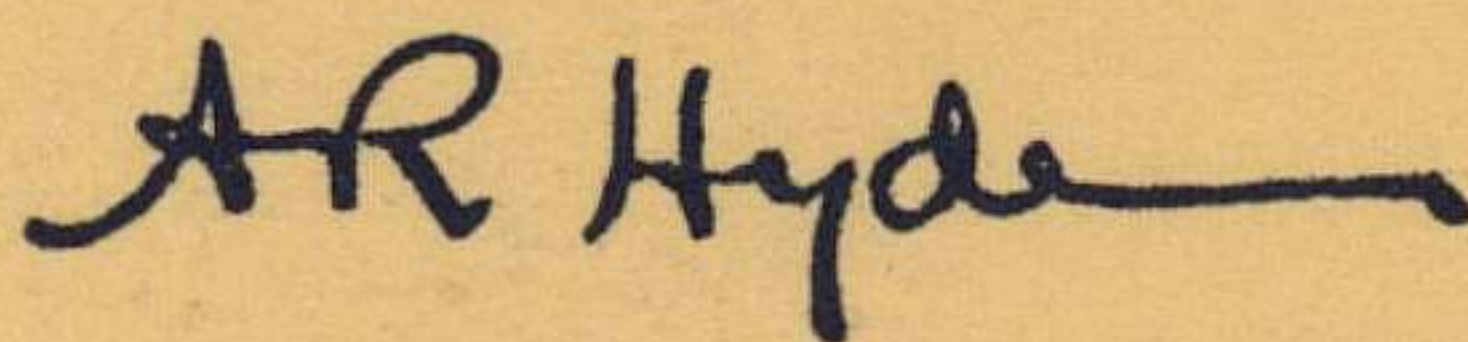

I am simply reminding you, in a friendly way, of the passage of time to save you the annoyance of missing an issue. And I want to mention a few of the forthcoming articles I believe you will particularly enjoy:

OUR LAWYERS, by Ferdinand Lundberg
ENGLAND MOVES TOWARD FASCISM, by Eliot Janeway
CHARLES A. BEARD, a portrait, by Hubert Herring
FORTY-THIRD DIVISION: beginning a two-part story
by Ralph Bates

KING OF KINGS, by John Gunther

An order form and return envelope have been neatly combined for your convenience. You need not send your check now. We will gladly bill you later, but won't you return the order promptly and run no risk of missing a number? And remember you may renew for two years for only $6.00 or three years for $8.00 - a saving of considerable dimensions.

Cordially yours,

Dear Lee:

I have arranged to leave three excellent seats for the Saturday game at the house, where you may pick them up. If any of you should at the last minute decide not to go, I wish you would call me at the University of Kansas exchange, K. U. 83, and let me know.

The tickets have been purchased from the Athletic Office for you and if any of you are not going I would desire to turn them in before game time so there would be no difficulty about the refund.

It should be an excellent game. We have quite a large delegation coming up from Bartlesville, Oklahoma, for luncheon tomorrow. Kenneth S. Adams, president of Phillips Petroleum Company, and his family, and a group of other oil people are driving up from Bartlesville. I trust that you will be able to meet them if you come by the house early enough. If I were you I would leave rather early because our group may leave the house at least by 1:30. Milton, Isabel and the baby drove in from Russell, Kansas, and quite a group of Oklahoma and Kansas men accompanied them, so we should have a house full.

It will be good to see you.

Dear George:

I was mighty glad to hear from you, Happy, and as soon as I received your letter I went in to speak to Mr. Earl Falkenstien about you and your dad coming down to the game.

You are dead right - your K card does entitle you to a ticket, and if you get here early Saturday morning you come directly to the Athletic Office and I am very sure that Mr. Falkenstien and Mrs. Webster will take good care of you. In fact, I believe if you will talk real nice to Mr. Falkenstien you will have only to pay the tax on those two tickets, but you let him tell you that and do not presume that I am passing along this gratuity because I have no power to do so.

I do know that Earl likes you very much, Happy, and he realizes that you have not been working. I think he will do splendidly by you.

If it is so that you cannot get here in the morning, then you can go to the ticket booth at the front of the stadium and call for Mr. Falkenstien and I am sure that you will get the same service.

Dear Dr. Harding:

It was a pleasure to receive your letter of the 13th instant, and I remember you very well. Yes, I remember when you and Ben Grover used to meet me and carry my bag, and I understood perfectly why you boys were there. I know how boys love to get in to see the game.

Thank you for your kind comment on my article in the Rotarian magazine.

You mention my book on athletic injuries for the profession, and I believe you are referring to my new text, "Better Basketball", published by McGraw-Hill and Company of New York. Part IV of "Better Basketball" is devoted to "Athletic Injuries and Emergencies", and includes chapters on The Trainer and his Equipment, Sprains or Synovitis of Joints, Bandaging Wrist, Thumb and Fingers, Bandaging Thigh, Leg and Knee, Bandaging Ankle and Foot, Specific Manipulations, Emergencies, and so forth. The book is profusely illustrated with photographs.

I regret that it is impossible for me to mail a copy c.o.d., as Mrs. Allen handles the books, but if you desire an autographed copy and will mail me your check or money order for $4.00 I will be very happy to send it to you post-paid.

It was a pleasure to hear from you, and I hope we may have a visit together before long. I was in Omaha a short time ago speaking at the Nebraska State Teachers Convention, and I am sorry that I did not know you were so near.

Wilfred Hetzel, arts sophomore, who has traveled around the country demonstrating his ability to sink a basketball into the basket from any of 52 positions, this winter will go to Hollywood where he may do his 12-minute trick shot routine for a sports-reel. Hetzel has done his act before about half a million people in 17 states.

THE END OF SOMETHING

600 16th Ave. SE.
Minneapolis, Minn.

October 29, 1938.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen
University of Kansas
Lawrence, Kan.

Dear Mr. Allen:

In the past two seasons I have greatly embellished my routine of fancy shots by adding several innovations to the act. My performance lasts about 12 minutes without my employing the same trick more than once. Last year I performed at Ohio State, Northwestern and Purdue for major cage tilts while Indiana and Michigan State indicated that they will engage my feature this season. I am therefore writing you to let you know my terms, etc. in the event you are interested. At present I am arranging to make a trip out to Hollywood between Dec.15 and Jan.10 to fulfill a request by one of the studios to call on them and show them my stunts in person as they have intimated that my routine would make an ideal one reel sports short.

I doubt if I'll be back from the coast by Jan. 2 when Kansas plays Carleton so you'll probably have to card me after Jan. 10 or prior to Dec.15 if you decide to use my act at all. It will require a guarantee of 25 dollars for me to stage such an exhibition in Lawrence, but my price will likely be double the above amount after the movie short is made.

On October 1 I received a 6-line mention in the AP sports column by Eddie Brietz which makes its daily appearance in more than 600 papers. Last April 14 I made Ripley's cartoon while in both March and August I received publicity in the New York World-Telegram. The Nov.27 issue of the Collegiate Digest, an 8 page weekly rotogravure supplement appearing in 330 college publications, will publish several photographs of me in trick shot stances.

Some of my variations are: shots from behind the back-board, one-handed and two-handed lying down shots from under the basket while on my back, sitting down shots from under the basket while facing the basket or with my back to it, a one-handed forward pass shot from 50 feet away from the basket; blindfolded shots on both feet, one on either foot or one-handed; a backward bending free throw, one-handed and two-handed bounce shots from the foul line, two handed free throws on both knees and on either knee, one-handed free shots on both knees and on either knee, a kneeling down bounce free throw, a drop-kick free throw shot, a high arch foul shot, a bounce-bank shot from either side of the basket, a long bounce shot, an overhead two-handed shot and a host of other types not easily explained on paper. I keep on getting better every season altho each year I think of more difficult tricks; but now I have about reached the end of my rope and I'll be able to develop a little more accuracy on the many unorthodox shots I introduced last season. I worked out before Nat Holman in New York City a year ago last September and made a good impression upon him despite the fact that it was only my first workout in a half year.

I performed at Purdue when they played that famous 15 minute stalling game against Illinois before 8500 fans. My demonstrations in Indiana last February and I performed in every sector of the state, were tremendously appreciated by the fans as a number of testimonials from coaches and radio officials there will indicate.

Very sincerely yours,

Wilfred Hetzel

Mr. Brutus Hamilton,
Head Track Coach,
University of California,
Berkeley, California.

Dear Brutus:

While we were at Norman last Saturday, getting licked in a game of basketball by the University of Oklahoma, Elwyn Dees who is now head trainer at Oklahoma A. and M. called me and said that he understood that the job of trainer at Yale was open and he was desirous of landing it.

Being very fond of Elwyn, and knowing what a fine man he is, I told him that I would write you and see if you could not give me some inside information that would be helpful to him in landing this job.

I knew the former athletic director at Yale very well, but I understand that Malcolm Farmer is now director, and I do not know him as well as I did his predecessor. My notion in helping Elwyn was to ascertain friends who are well acquainted with coaches of the varsity sports and then have outstanding men write those individuals just about the time that Elwyn would file. R. W. "Ducky" Pond is football coach at Yale, and I am in the same position concerning Coach Pond and Kenneth Leaffler, the basketball coach, as I am with regard to the athletic director - not being well acquainted with either of them. I know Joe "Smoky Joe" Wood, the baseball coach very well, and I can write him personally, but I wanted to get someone who is well acquainted with "Ducky" Pond and Malcolm Farmer.

I am quite sure that you know Frank Hanaly, the track coach, and it is for that reason that I am writing you asking cooperative help in helping Elwyn. As hockey is a great sport in the East I imagine that that coach could be considered when a trainer is being employed. The trainer is listed as Major Frank Wandle, and Elwyn understood through the Cramer boys that he is not to be there next year.

Brutus, I would appreciate any helpful suggestions that you can give me toward helping Elwyn land this job. You were mainly instrumental in landing Jimmie Cox at Harvard through your influence with Bill Bingham. I am just wondering if you couldn't use your good offices with Bill in helping in the Yale situation. You know the fact that Kansas contributed a trainer to Harvard and the fact that Jimmie is doing so well might be a boost in favor of another Kansas trainer. Elwyn is anxious to land the job and I am sure that he will write you in a very short while. He just phones me last Saturday morning, and I am hot on the job of helping efficient and sincere young men in getting to better locations.

I will recommend Elwyn without reservation or evasion. He is a wonderful trainer, and best of all, a wonderful gentleman. He is interested one hundred per cent in his work and they are crazy about him down at Oklahoma A. and M. We played down there, and the boys swear by him first, last and all the time.

With all good wishes to Rowena, Jean and your good family, I am, as always, wishing you the very best every year.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
