Dear Mr. Hamilton:

I was very pleased to receive your letter and happy to know that you enjoyed the game and were in a comfortable location considering the very sweltering atmosphere that we all experienced.

I was glad for you to have those tickets because the other people were taken out to the stadium and taken care of without too much difficulty. The Nebraska people got their orders mixed up, but I do not wonder at such a thing because there was such pressure for tickets that everybody was a bit nervous about the whole situation.

If at any time you need tickets to any of the big games if you will let me know I will endeavor to accommodate you. I assure you I will be happy to call on you should I be in need of a friend who can respond so cheerfully to services to others.

I want to thank you for your little remembrance, and the first time I am in Kansas City I will stop by and see you.

Very cordially yours,

FCA:AE
