Dear Mr. Hamilton:

I am very happy to have your letter of the 17th instant, and I am now rushing the check to Major Lawrence McC. Jones, Director of Athletics at Nebraska, asking him to do the very best possible for you.

Some two weeks ago I wrote Major Jones regarding tickets for other people and he replied that they were at the end of the stadium and in concrete. I take it this is past the goal line. I fear that they have sold even those tickets, by now, but I am writing this morning so the letter will be on Major Jones' desk early Monday morning.

I am using a little pressure in obtaining these tickets from him, if at all possible. I am asking that he mail them direct to you, or write you enclosing your check if he is unable to supply them.

Two months ago it was reported that all seats in the stadium had been sold. It might be that he would fill your request for seats in the temporary bleachers at the end of the field. If these are not desirable, if he is unable to obtain better ones, you can of course return them for a refund.

I wish that I had known of your desire sooner. I am very sure I could have done better than at this date.

Assuring you it is a pleasure to accommodate you in any manner, I am, with kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

FCA:AH

Director of Physical Education.
