Topeka, Kansas.

Dear Dr. Hall:

I had expected to have Santa Claus deliver this book to you, but with the rush of basketball season and the many details of getting the book on the market I have neglected to autograph the book in time to get it in the mail for you.

Since then I have been continuously on the go, and only today did I put the December 25th heading on it, so I am still having the old Christmas spirit somewhat belatedly.

I trust that you will enjoy some of the yarns in the back of the book under the title of "Tales of Yesteryear". There are a couple of good football yarns in there, as well as some of basketball, and I am hoping that at least you will derive a miniature mental wallop out of some of them.

With every good wish, I am

Fraternally yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
