Dear Betty Lou:

I am a little tardy in my acknowledgment in sending you the Jayhawk Rebounds. It seems every day when I was away from my desk I would think of the promise, then when I was at my desk other things would crowd me out; so today I am sending you one of the June 25 Rebounds.

I started Rebound No. 18 on July 25, but my secretary's mother took ill and she was called out of town; so I will wait for her return, which should be this week, to make another start on No. 18. I trust that although a rather belated in its arrival, that you will find some interesting reminders of the old Jayhawk's activities.

Bobby called his mother last week stating that perhaps he would get a chance to stop in Kansas City on his return from a trip in which he was taking some wounded service men, but Sunday we got a wire stating he was going directly back to San Francisco. I believe that he was to fly so should be with Jean by the time this epistle reaches you.

My best wishes to all at 105 North Courtland.

Sincerely,
