Thank you for those many hours that you spent on Jack Ballard, who showed his steel against the University of Oklahoma when Charlie Black was laid low with pneumonia and Armand Dixon left for his Hermosa Beach, California, home to say hello and farewell before going into the Army on March 6th.

One of our graduate Naval Mechanics, who writes interestingly, inquiring concerning the Jawhawker successes in basketball, Bob has been places and seen things from Australia to the Solomon Islands and all the hot spots in the Western theatre. He is not from Kansas, but his stay here of only a few months made a real Jayhawker out of him. Lots of good luck to you, Bob.

Lieut. W. H. "Bill" Shannon, SC, USNR
Gallatin Hall, E-13,
Soldiers Field Station,
Boston, Mass.

I greatly admire you as one of our top professors of the University of Kansas who was first to enlist and give the country the benefit of your fine brain and training. I will be counting on playing golf with you after the fuss is over. I remember the fine matches we had when you were here. Thanks for your letter of March, which was deeply appreciated by me.

Lt. (j.g.) John H. Glenn, ACV Pre-Commissioning Detail,
Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Corp.,
Tacoma, Washington

Our Western N.C.A.A. Championship team will always remember you with affection. And we thank you for the clipping on Arthur "Dutch" Lomborg by Francis J. Powers. It was a fine tribute to the great captain of our 1920 basketball team. We wish you all sorts of continued success in your western location.

To good old rough, tough, happy and efficient Otto Schnellbacher,
