

because they are next to impossible to get, but we will send the basketball to your mother, and upon your return you will get your blanket. Maybe that is just as well, under the war pressure.

To you boys who write to Don, note the change of address since the last Rebound letter.

Ensign Howard G. Engleman, USNR
Local Defense,
Treasure Island,
San Francisco, California.

Paul Turner told us he saw Howard Engleman at the country club in Salina recently. "Rope" was visiting his wife and her folks in Salina. "Rope", Dean's young son, Leslie, has grown strong enough that he can now make it to the check and supply room and get his own shoes. You won't have to send him any Indian moccasins because he can get them under his own power. And by the way, "Rope", can you balance twelve indoor baseballs on the jam of the towel room door? I'll give you 35¢ an hour if you can do it!

Johnny, I find that I have failed to answer your good letter of April 26, but I will get around to it soon. Johnny writes, "I've been giving so many rub-downs and checking so many sacro-iliacs, the fellows in my outfit, Patrol Squadron Thirteen, really appreciate your course in Theory and Practice of Athletic Training. When I entered this aviation game I thought I wouldn't have much use for my physical education training. I was very much mistaken for it has been very useful many times. . . . We are located at a very nice little spot out here - somewhere in the ocean. We are doing quite a great deal of flying; but not too much. Its pretty hard to get in too much flying, especially when a person likes to fly. The recreational facilities are very good. Tennis, boxing, softball and plenty of really swell beaches."

Johnny, we didn't play baseball this year. The season was so short and school examinations began on May 8 and ran to the 13th. We will have football this fall and Henry Shenk will coach the football team. He also coached the track team last spring and did mighty well. We are expecting to play Basketball, although the Big Six basketball schedule has not been made out. But the talk is that we are taking a shot at it. We are going to have a big intramural program and I am going to have charge not only of the intramural program for the students but for all the boys in the service, V-12 and Naval Cadets. We are expecting to have a swell intramural program and it will be an extensive one.

This June 30th day simulates an early fall day. We have had wonderful weather all spring and summer. Grass and shrubs are as green as on any early May morning. The anatomy building burned and they have removed all of the debris and sowed grass there, and for the life of you as you stand in Robinson Gym and look east across this beautiful quadrangle it is difficult to imagine that a building ever stood there. During Chancellor Lindley's regime it was built for a cafeteria. Then when the Union Building was built the cafeteria was moved over there, and the medics took over this building for cutting up human stuff with scalpels.
