Dear Doctor Phats:

It was very good of you to write on the 23rd instant concerning Miss Baker. I will appreciate anything that you can do for her. She is a fine young woman and one of our outstanding majors.

I am very well and happy, but I expect to spend most of my summer here. The weather has been so lovely. I am still working on my department of physical education, and find much work to do. I expect to play a little golf every afternoon, and supervise the physical education activities, or rather the recreative work here for the men at the University during the Summer School.

Then, too, our son Bob is going to get his chemistry out of the way so that he will have more time for basketball this winter, and incidentally will be in good shape for his first year in pre-medic work. His fall grades were excellent and I believe his spring grades are going to be right up among the top ones. So the Allen family is exceptionally happy with Bob's first year in the University.

Our daughter Jane, the second daughter, is graduating from Stanford, after graduating here last year. We are expecting to have a family reunion in about two weeks upon her return from the coast. We have been painting and remodeling our house, so with all the activity of commencement and the homecoming of the family we expect to spend a very pleasant month or so before Mrs. Allen and the two daughters take off for New York.

Our oldest daughter with her three children lives at Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Allen and the other two daughters are going to swing by there, and then the women folks are going to drive to New York to see New York as it really looks in the summer. I believe they will have more fun than if some man is tagging along.
