

January 8, 1942.

Mr. Les Freeburg,
Lowe & Campbell Athletic Goods Co.,
Kansas City, Missouri.

Dear Les:

Thank you for your letter of the 7th instant.
Send me a couple of dozen of those cheaper balls with the red dot on them. I like something that inflames the optic nerve, and these cheaper balls are all right.

Pick me out some with the red dots and send them to me because right at this stage of the basketball season
I need some red dots. And when I see red -- Oh!Oh!

Thank you very much for your kindness in this matter. I realize, of course, that restrictions may make it impossible to get some of the rubber goods. But I am not worried because I'll get out and play with some hedge balls if they don't make any golf balls! There are several hedge trees out there with wonderful products. I'll start "bowling on the green"!

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation, Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.

FCA:AH