Dear Subscriber:

The editors of LIFE join me in thanking you for your faith in our new publishing venture.

No new magazine ever before received such a heart-warming send-off, and we are doubly grateful for your encouragement given while we are still feeling our way - experimenting, improving, groping, pioneering in many directions.

The early issues are just a beginning. Before the gift subscription you ordered expires we hope to present a magazine worth many times the subscription price.

LIFE is being mailed from here each week to the recipient of your gift. A return envelope is enclosed for your convenience in sending us your check.

Cordially,

Terry Trentice
