Dr. F. C. Allen
Kansas University
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Dr. Allen:

Thanks for the basketball schedules. I can't figure out how I'm going to manage to see any game unless I can make connections on March 1. Missouri got squelched last nite; perhaps K. U. can do the same to M. U. on Mar. 1. That will be a game worth traveling far to see.

Shall I warn you that I'm planning to be in Lawrence the week-end of Feb. 10. in order that you may leave town early? Ha! That's about the luck I usually have at finding people in their offices when I appear in Lawrence.

Everything is going along quite smoothly here. I'm sure that by the end of this week I'll be a match for Tarzan on the horizontal bar, horse, and parallel bars. The kids are crazy about it - (the teacher certainly doesn't hate it.)

Hoping to have a friendly chat within the next two weeks, I remain - yours respit.
Ruth Baker.

February 2, 1940.

Mrs. E. P. Bozeman,
Nickerson, Kansas.

Dear Mrs. Bozeman:

I was delighted at your lovely letter which I received in this morning's mail. I have always been especially fond of Earl and I thought at the early beginning of school that he was indulging in too many sports. He came out for football and he seemed to think he had to practice every day.

I talked to his Geology supervisor, the professor that he works for under the CSEP stipend, and he said, "This boy is just working too hard. He has got to give something up." I called Earl in and said, "Earl, you carrying too heavy a load; you're going to flunk."

With a quick and a direct glance at me, he said, "I never have," in a tone that made me admire him very much.

It is such leadership that we discover in boys such as Earl that causes us to keep a very close watch on them for fear their great ambitions will cause them to overdo. A dozen times during the school year I have asked him how he was getting along, and he always said "All right". If he had only come to me and told me his problem, of course I would have given him extra work because I saw in this boy great possibilities of leadership.

Mrs. Bozeman, it is not the idea of his athletic ability that causes us to do things for a boy like Earl, but it is on account of his possibilities for the future. We do have rules that we enforce in a general way to the effect that when a boy is failing in his academic work we will not give him additional work that distracts from his studying. But there are exceptions to all rules, and rules are made not to be broken but to be observed by the general rank and file of people. When we find an exceptional case we treat it in an exceptional way. And I think Earl is an exceptional boy. I am not saying this to you because you are his mother, but in all of his work around the department every one of the individuals who have come in contact with Earl have evaluated him very highly.

We gave Earl work down at the stadium and paid him out of our department because the buildings and grounds people at the stadium mark our tennis courts, and in that way we can trade work. So the Physical Education department paid Earl's salary, even though he gets the work from the athletic department. The reason we gave him the work on Saturdays was so that he could spend his entire day there working at 35¢ an hour and that would leave the rest of the week to him for studying.

Yes, Mrs. Bozeman, you have Earl come in and we will give him additional work. But I want you to know that it is not on account of his athletic ability, of which he has much, but rather it is on account of his genuine worth and his promise to make a mark in the world. I would always encourage a youth such as Earl. He will make good and we will help him. You show him this letter if you wish, because I want him to know what I think of him. Earl is a boy that the University of Kansas could do much for because he has character and the physique and the brain.

I am glad that you have written me. I want you to feel free to write me whenever you feel the urge.

With all good wishes, and congratulating you upon having such a fine son and congratulating Earl upon a mother who is fearless enough to seek the best for her son, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

Prof. F. C. Allen

801 Louisiana,

Lawrence, Kans.

Dear Professor Allen -

Earl has come home so worried and discouraged at the outlook for next semester that in wondering along with him as to whether he's going to be able to go back to school next week or not, I've decided to write to you.

You know, of course, I think that the reason for worry is "finances" and we have nothing to give him. That in itself, Dr. Allen, is almost heartbreaking.

No, I'm not writing for sympathy - just information. I think we could get the money by borrowing from any one of three or four sources - (we've borrowed twice this winter) but our credit has always been good and tho' it puts us "in" that much deeper before spring, when work will open up, we're willing to do it; the question is I is Earl worth a "job" to you as far as B. B. is concerned?

We don't expect K. W. to "keep" him, tho' he did think with the $100. to begin with + $50. a few week ago he could do the best. I was sure he couldn't and he know^e now that he can't.

I've gone on & on & haven't gotten to the real trouble. You don't know, of course, that he's getting an "F" in Rhetoric.
 He didn't get his 3000 word term paper in and he thought that meant "flunking" - I don't think so. He's been making B's on most of his papers and the term paper, I take it, is the only cause for the "F".
 He said you couldn't let him have any work as long as his grade looked that way, and I can see the logic in that, but he can make up the work in English - can't he?

I'm afraid I've put all this so badly that it doesn't sound at all as I expected. I don't think Earl is looking for a "soft spot" and I don't want one for him. But if he can still have work that will help pay his way we will try to get some money to keep him in school.

I'm so sorry things have turned out as they have. When one has financial worries on one's mind as he has ^{had} this year it's very hard to keep ones mind on any thing else seriously, and it's not fair really - as he hasn't been able to enjoy school as he could have otherwise. Not fair to the school, I mean -

I hope this letter is some what understandable.

I don't know what Earl would say did he know I am writing to you - as he doesn't want any one to fight any battles for him - So I believe I'd rather he doesn't know.

I'm sure I shouldn't have bothered you with such a letter but I would appreciate a reply - very soon - (over) Very truly yours.
 Mrs. E. P. Bozeman.

P.S. I don't want you to think I add this only as an afterthought - But I have wanted many times to thank you for the kindly interest you have shown in Earl & we do appreciate it, as he does.

I guess the reason I didn't say that at first was because you'd think I was just trying to make you feel good - as it is, you will have formed opinions - before you get to the "Thank you's" Thank you - again.

Dear Guy:

After talking with you about Don Blair, our freshman basketball player from Ottawa, Kansas, I want to supplement my remarks by telling you that his father particularly wanted him to come to the University to get away from home. He has been somewhat sheltered at home by a fond mother, and his father felt it would do the boy good to get away from home and be on his own.

I believe that after a short period of adjustment here he will get along all right. He is a fine boy, intelligent and alert, but possibly he has loafed a little in his studies.

I felt this added information might help you in dealing with him.

Dear Mr. Black:

Professor Taft told me this morning that there was a possibility of the Black family moving to Lawrence so that you might educate your family here without the out-of-state fees, and with the plan that you could naturally reduce educational expenses by living here in Lawrence.

I trust that this statement of Professor Taft will materialize in fact, and that we will have you here as one of our residents and friends.

I further learned that Charles would perhaps return from Wisconsin, and of course if your family moved here to Lawrence he would doubtless be with you here. If such is the case, I would be very happy to help Charles in every way that I can. He will doubtless need some work to help along with his incidental expenses and I will be glad to provide that for him should he decide to enter the University of Kansas.

Dear Mr. Allen:

I have been out of the city for the past week, so my reply to your letter was somewhat delayed.

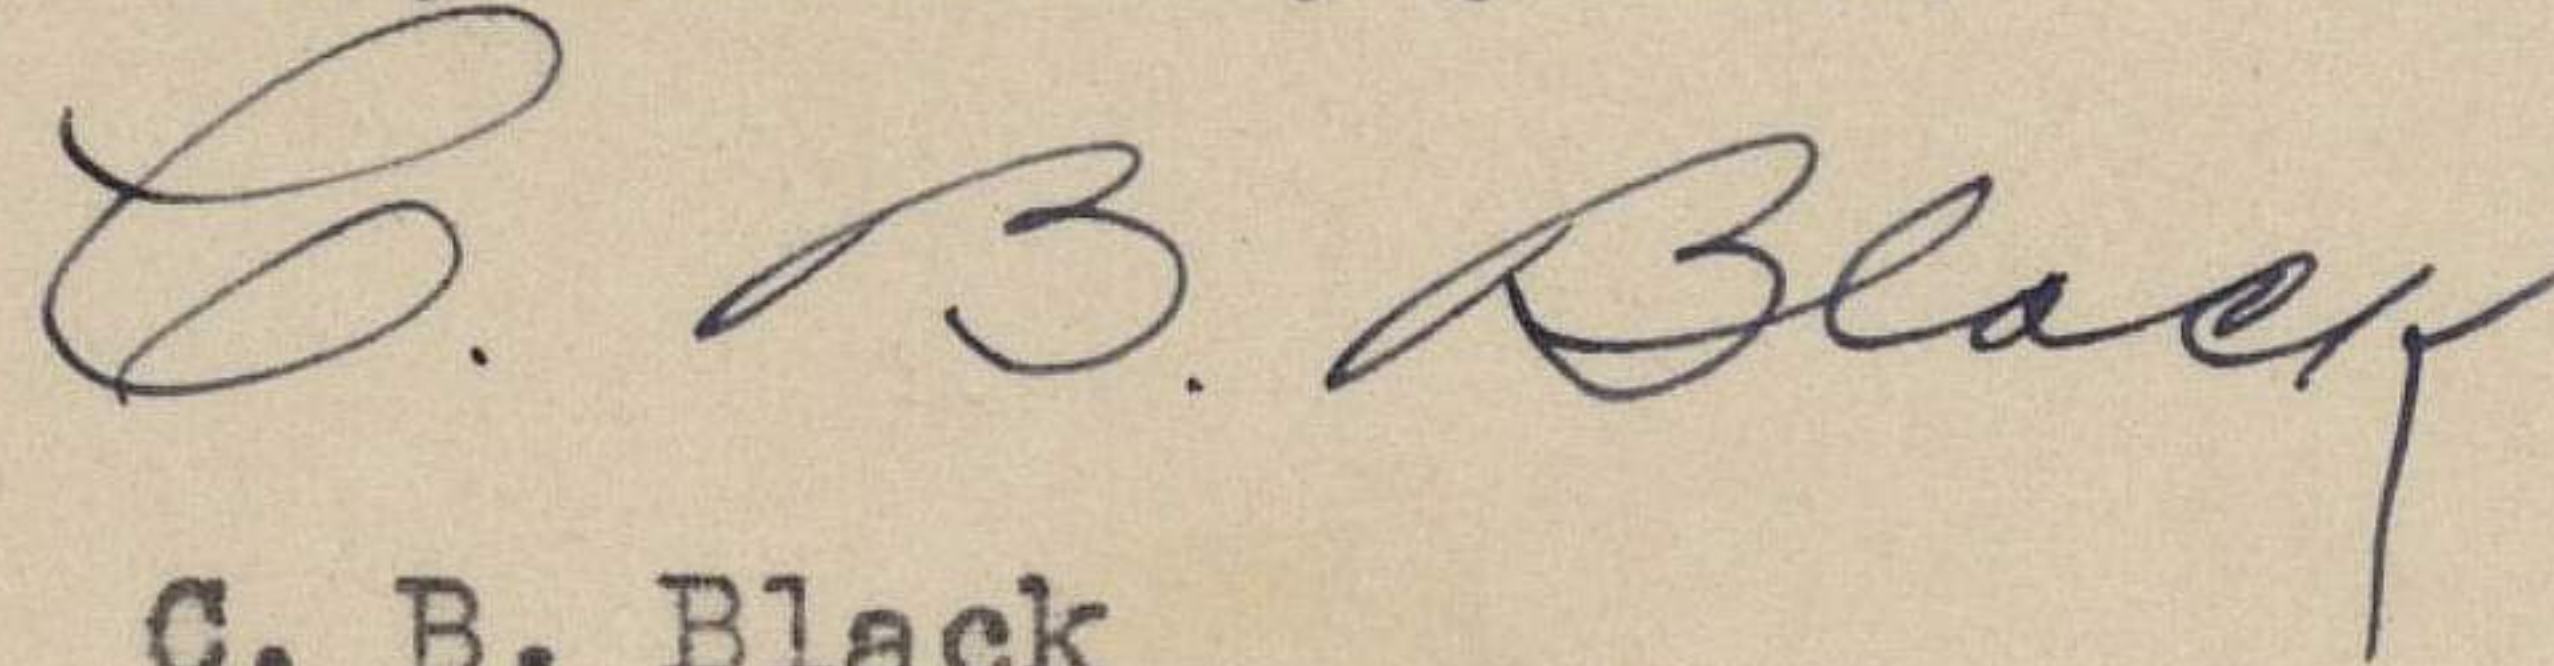

We enjoyed the visit with you and your boys in the office that day very much. No need for apologies, as I believe the girls in the office enjoyed the company.

The following week after your visit, Charles decided to go up to Wisconsin to see just what work they had cut out for him, and he seems very well pleased, judging from his letters to us. He is quite busy trying to hold down two jobs - so it looks as though we have lost him to Wisconsin.

You have a standing invitation to drop in and see us any time you are in Kansas City.

Mr. C. O. Burnside,
Carpenter Paper Company,
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Dear Cob:

Boy, you hit me when I am weak! You've got me crying and your letter just naturally broke my spinous morale. You know, I've always been afraid that I couldn't win a championship or even a single ball game, and your lashing words of criticism was the proverbial straw that "done break me down". You remember that is what the colored gentleman said when Joe Louis whipped Maxie Baer; he said, "Boy, Joe done break old Maxie down", and that is what you have done for me, old pardner.

Barring mathematical equasions, I am intelligent enough to know that when Oklahoma has four games at home and only one game away and that is against Iowa State, and we have four games away and two at home, then it is not difficult for me to say that the odds are in favor of O.U. Would you want me to go out in the wide world, throw my chest out, and say "We are just going to beat Oklahoma to a pulp and all the other boys as well"? Maybe that is what you would want me to do.

You know, there is something to the home court advantage as shown by Oklahoma Aggies winning 40 consecutive games at home. And yet they lost up here at Lawrence. How would you explain that?

Cob, I'll be happy to see you at Stillwater. I believe we saw you twice there last year and we got licked both games there, and if we get licked again we will still be in there with our chins up, but before that licking comes we will be playing basketball -- the game that I am trying to teach.

You have the background of proselyting at Oklahoma A. & M., and Oklahoma, and Kansas, and you might find a difference of arrangements when it comes to getting material in the three schools. You know, basketball has always had a big break here at Kansas. We play in the auditorium and practice in the gymnasium. There isn't a boy on the Kansas team that is making $20.00 a month or near that much for work at 35¢ an hour. So we are still academic, Cob, and we are athletic as far as that sort of program will permit us to go.

Our next game is here with Iowa State on February 12, and we are going to play them for the honor of seeing which one will drop out of the Big Six. The one that wins will stay in, we hope.

Give my regards to Mrs. C.O.B. and young C.O.B., and tell them I am still fond of that silver thatched oracle, C.O.B. Sr. He is a great guy and I like him. But how sarcastic that guy can be at times! Did you everytry happiness and animation for a while to see how that bile will flow in your biliary duct? It is really good for digestion, Cob!

My dear Dr. Allen:

It strikes me that you are either a softy or a phoney. I never expected to see the day when you would admit that your ball club could not be in the money on the home stretch, as per your recent press announcement on O. U.'s championship chances.

I took this all with a grain of salt until today when a letter came from Fred Ellsworth suggesting that you would be here fro a series between O. U. and the Aggie game for the N.C.A. Championships.

I don't know what kind of a ball club you have this year, but it certainly must be sorry if you are going to fold up in front of O. U. They have played one beautiful ball game this year. That was against the Aggies at Stillwater. They didn't have to play basketball against Iowa State as Boob ~~M~~enz has about the most terrible ball club that ever played in the Big Six. Kansas State played rings around the team Saturday night. The seniors had the jitters and the sophomores plunged enough balls to win the game.

Enough of that, Fred Ellsworth is very unhappy with me so I suggested we would have a Kansas turnout for the basket ball team when you came down for your joust March 8. We will try and have a luncheon, and it will be a fairly large one, and we want you to be prepared to dish out a little of your Jay-Hawker Spirit. Chancellor Malott will be here Friday night, but I won't have the good fortune to shake his hand as I have another engagement on that date.

Dear Cob:

Well, I guess we were kidding each other and apparently we didn't make it evident enough in our own minds that the recipient of the epistle still seems to be confused. Anyhow, let me tell you, Cob, I knew all the time you were kidding and I was kidding right back.

Yes, we will be happy to be down there March 8th, and although I have had some teeth extracted I still am alright - like the old man who said that he had "pullman teeth" - one upper and one lower, but, he said, "Thank God, they hit!" So I may be articulate enough to answer the purpose. I am sorry I neglected to state in my previous letter that I would come, because I meant to do so, but overlooked it for some reason.

I don't like the idea of those fellows at Norman calling the game at 7:45. It makes us hustle like the dickens to get back to catch the train. If they would call the game at 7:30 we could make it, but it is certainly putting pressure on the boys when they call the game at 7:30, and hardly give the visitors a chance to take a decent bath before rushing out in the cold endangering their health.

Bruce says Tom Stidham has to cater to the clientele at Oklahoma City, that they cannot get down from O. C. in time to see the game at 7:30. Well, bless his soul, you tell him that we call our games at 7:30 and people come from Kansas City, 42 miles away, and they do not kick about it.

Especially is this difficult now since the train does not go through Norman, but is made up at Oklahoma City. This makes it tougher than ever on us, but we poor Jayhawkers must stand this inconvenience for the folks that live 18 miles from Norman.

Now, Cob, I am not trying to get sarcastic. And I am not worrying about the kidding that I might get as far as our basketball record is concerned, because while I like to win, I think we can successfully compare our wins and losses with most any of the sport teams in the Big Six and not suffer by comparison. So I get a lot of kick out of these things, and when I find a fellow kidding me I like to kid him back a little. You know, Cob, how fond I am of you, and when apparently you get hot and bothered about some of these things at the University I know that it is because of your pride in the University and her possessions. You want to see them make the best showing in any company.

I am sorry you have the flu, and I hope you will soon

Dear Roy:

Perhaps my letter was poorly worded. What I meant to say was that last summer you and I talked about Lowe & Campbell and about your calling upon them. What I should have said when I expressed surprise was that I was surprised you hadn't called on them before this, although in your letter you did state that you were going to make contact at a later date.

Naturally they at Lowe & Campbell feel that if anyone wanted to sell them anything they would certainly contact them, and when I corresponded with them expressing the notion that they were buying something of an inferior quality when they bought Uni-goal, it would naturally leave us wide open for not having contacted them heretofore.

I am perfectly agreeable to the drinks being on me so far as the information contained in your letter. You are right. Now, I will buy you another drink if you will call on Lowe & Campbell in a week and get this thing presented to them so that they will not be carrying Uni-goal in their catalogues as they have been doing since last fall.

I think I understand, because you explained to me once before, that you were planning to market this thing more slowly than you first anticipated, but when so much publicity came out I believe that caused your plans to change. But plans do constantly change, do they not, Roy? So we will just buy a couple of drinks for you if you sell Lowe & Campbell a car load of Goal-Hi equipment.

If I inferred that you spoke discouragingly of our basketball team, I was kidding you again.

You are one of our very best friends that resides in Oklahoma. All the boys look upon you as a real pal and the patron saint that lives in Oklahoma. When I told them that you were going to be down at the game you can imagine their joy and surprise in having that statement in the affirmative, and of course we will be expecting you to eat breakfast with us when we come to Oklahoma City on March 8th.

Every one of our remaining six games happen to be the very last for each one of the six teams. They close the season with our games, so you can imagine that they won't be saving any steam for anyone but Kansas.

Yes, all the boys talked about what a wonderful reception they received at Stillwater. They said it was the finest crowd and finest group of boys, all in all, that they had met. So you see, after all, when a group of kids feel that they played a good game in a good environment among a lot of fine people that is just about all the youngsters can take with them in durable satisfactions. It would have been a good game to win, but we just didn't take advantage of the 18 to 15 lead and let it slip away before we started to fight. I have taken so many lickings through my life that another doesn't produce the scar it did in early years. I have a more workable philosophy than I had when I was young and full of spizzerinctum.

I don't know when I have felt as bad as I have today, but your boys were so glorious in defeat that I am overcome with pride and joy as much as disappointment in the loss of the game.

I'll tell the world that you certainly showed the folks that you have a great ball club! So far as natural ability, physical equipment and power is concerned, I think this club is far below some others you have had, but for sheer nerve, guts, fight and drive, I'll put them tops.

A number of people told me today that Kansas hustled harder in that game than in any they ever saw. The writer has seen the Aggies on a number of occasions this year, and let me tell you they were playing far over their heads. I know that it was one of the toughest games you ever had to lose, but we can sure take them on the chin when the kids play that kind of basketball.

I don't know to this hour how in the world you interpreted the thought that I spoke discouragingly of your basketball team and your basketball record. The only thing I am sour on at K. U. is the football situation, and we have thrashed that out and I will never mention it again. In fact, Bobby Lynn and I have got on the band wagon and we are going to do some things to help Vic Hurt a lot and if you can't take my word for it, ask him the next time you see him. Bobby got the Chancellor off behind the barn when he was down here and gave him enough assurance that I think we are going to go places now.

I did want to win that one at Stillwater to end all this talk about Henry Iba's being such a great strategist. I think we can lick him by ten points on any neutral court in America.

We talked about you all the way home last night and so far as the writer is concerned K. U. is just a big mass of mortar, brick

Thank you for your kind letter of the 14th instant.

Yes, our youngest son, Bob, is going to study medicine and he is endeavoring to win a Harvard scholarship.

It will indeed be a pleasure to see you when I come to Holton on March 11th. Every time I go through Holton I go to the Beauchamp Pharmacy, but this time we will get to see you over the festive board instead of partaking of my usual malted milk.

Looking forward to seeing you, and with all good wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

My Dear Alley

I am awfully pleased to hear you are going to talk to our Hi. B. Father and Sons Banquet I will sure get to see you.
I want to compliment you on your Basket Ball team. I am pulling for you to win the Big 6.
I want to congratulate your son Bob on his going to take up medicine. Its a long day but I am for him. I heard this hope its true. I notice lot of nice things in the papers you and Bob.
I know you deserve them.
we have 3 Boys on our Basket Ball & Foot Ball and track that H. U. should have - you will get to see them when you are here

Yours Sincerely

Gus A. Beauchamp
