

IX. (a) Since the spine is the keystone for the development of an upright posture, name four of its specific functions in this service to the human body.

(b) There are some 14 or 15 commonly recommended exercises for posture training. Name at least five such exercises and discuss briefly why each is effective.

X. List at least 5 home or occupational activities.

S