IX. (a) Since the spine is the keystone for the development of an upright posture, name four of its specific functions in this service to the human body.

- (b) There are some 14 or 15 commonly recommended exercises for posture training. Name at least five such exercises and discuss briefly why each is effective.
- X. List at least 5 home or occupational activities.