Dear Sir;

Since I shall probably enter the University this September, I am writing now to find out about the possibilities of continuing my favorite sport, weightlifting, while at college. First of all, let me say that, when accepted, I shall enter the School of Education, where I shall major in Physical Education. Although I realize that the playing of the sports taught in the curriculum should be enough exercise for the average student, I still intend to continue with my bodybuilding program, which I started 6 months ago.

Is weightlifting taught as one of the sports taught P.E. students? Is there a weightlifting team to represent the University? If not, do you believe there is a chance to organize one? Would the members of the team receive extra-curricular activity credit for participating in the contests to be arranged? Just what training equipment, if any, is available? That last question is important,
