

Johnson, and as far as just getting a job is concerned I know that I could get you a job. But that isn't what I want. I want you to get the type of job you want to have. You sit down and write me a long letter, and keep a lip upper stiff. Tell me now that you are happy even though you haven't got a job, and then tell me exactly what you would like to do, listing them in order, 1 - 2 - 3 - and then I will show you that we can put you on the right track.

Still believing that you have got the stuff and knowing that we are going to put you somewhere so that you will get somewhere, I am, as ever

Sincerely yours,
