Dear Mr. McGraw:

I am enclosing a postcard which just came to me, together with a copy of my reply to them. I will thank you if you will take care of this.

I am wondering if it would be an unreasonable demand to ask you to send us a copy of shipments that you have made for Better Basketball. I find that when I learn certain individuals or firms have purchased books that I am in a much better position to serve them when they write regarding inquiries on special parts of the text. It would be a great favor if you will ask your firm to send me these copies from the time the book was published.

Very sincerely yours,
