

March 13, 1945.

Memorandum to my good friend, Clyde E. McBride:

Mister, when you picked Iowa State after the season was over you missed the fact that I picked Iowa State before the season began. Therefore, you are disqualified as a participant and relegated to the class of guessers beginning in December, 1945, prognosticating for 1946.

In case your all-seeing eye apparently missed my prognostications, it was Iowa State first, Oklahoma second, Missouri and Kansas fighting for third and fourth place. Then I thought the Aggies would be fifth and Nebraska sixth.

What do you say to this, Mister?

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

P.S. And next year, don't you guess after the season is over!
