

December 21, 1943.

Dear Mac:

I am glad to see that you are in the land of the living again. I was a little worried when I failed to see your sporting comment day after day in the Star. I knew they had you flat on your back or else you would have had that column out.

The man who coached the University of Indiana when they played Kansas U. at Kansas City in March, 1940, was Branch McCracken, a graduate of the University of Indiana. McCracken never had played under me (Allen). I do not know of any coach in the state of Indiana at the present time who
