Mr. W.P. McGlynn

1024 Sixth Avenue S.
Seattle, Washington,

Dear Mr. McGlynn:

Answering your communication of the 6th instant, I beg to state that I had the pleasure of coaching George E. Rody on the Kansas Varsity during the years of 1920, 1921 and 1922. During that time Rody was by far the outstanding basketball player in our part of the country.

He was not large, but he had a deadly eye for the basket, and it was not unusual at all to see him shoot ten to twelve goals a game. He was not the rugged type but found the open spaces far out from the basket where he was apt to be unguarded, and he exercised long, looping, arch shots that found their marks with deadly accuracy.

Up to his time he was considered with one or two exceptions perhaps the best basketball player ever to attend Kansas, and he was named on the so-called All American Team by Colliers. However, I want you to know that in those days All American teams were not as common as they are now, and I frankly doubt that any All American team is anything but the bunk, although we have had several players on different All American teams.

I am sure that you will follow me when I say that a college generation of students sometimes forget or even do not know of the other great players that preceded them or followed them. The other day I was asked to name the really all great forwards that we have had at Kansas by a leading publication and George Rody's name was listed along with five others.

I formerly played at the University of Kansas and have been coaching basketball, starting here in 1907 when we won the conference championship for two years. Then I came back ten years later in 1919 and have been here since, so I believe I know the outstanding players since I played on some of the near first teams that Kansas had.

Trusting this gives you the information that you seek, I am,

Sincerely yours,

FCA:lg

Dear Sir:-

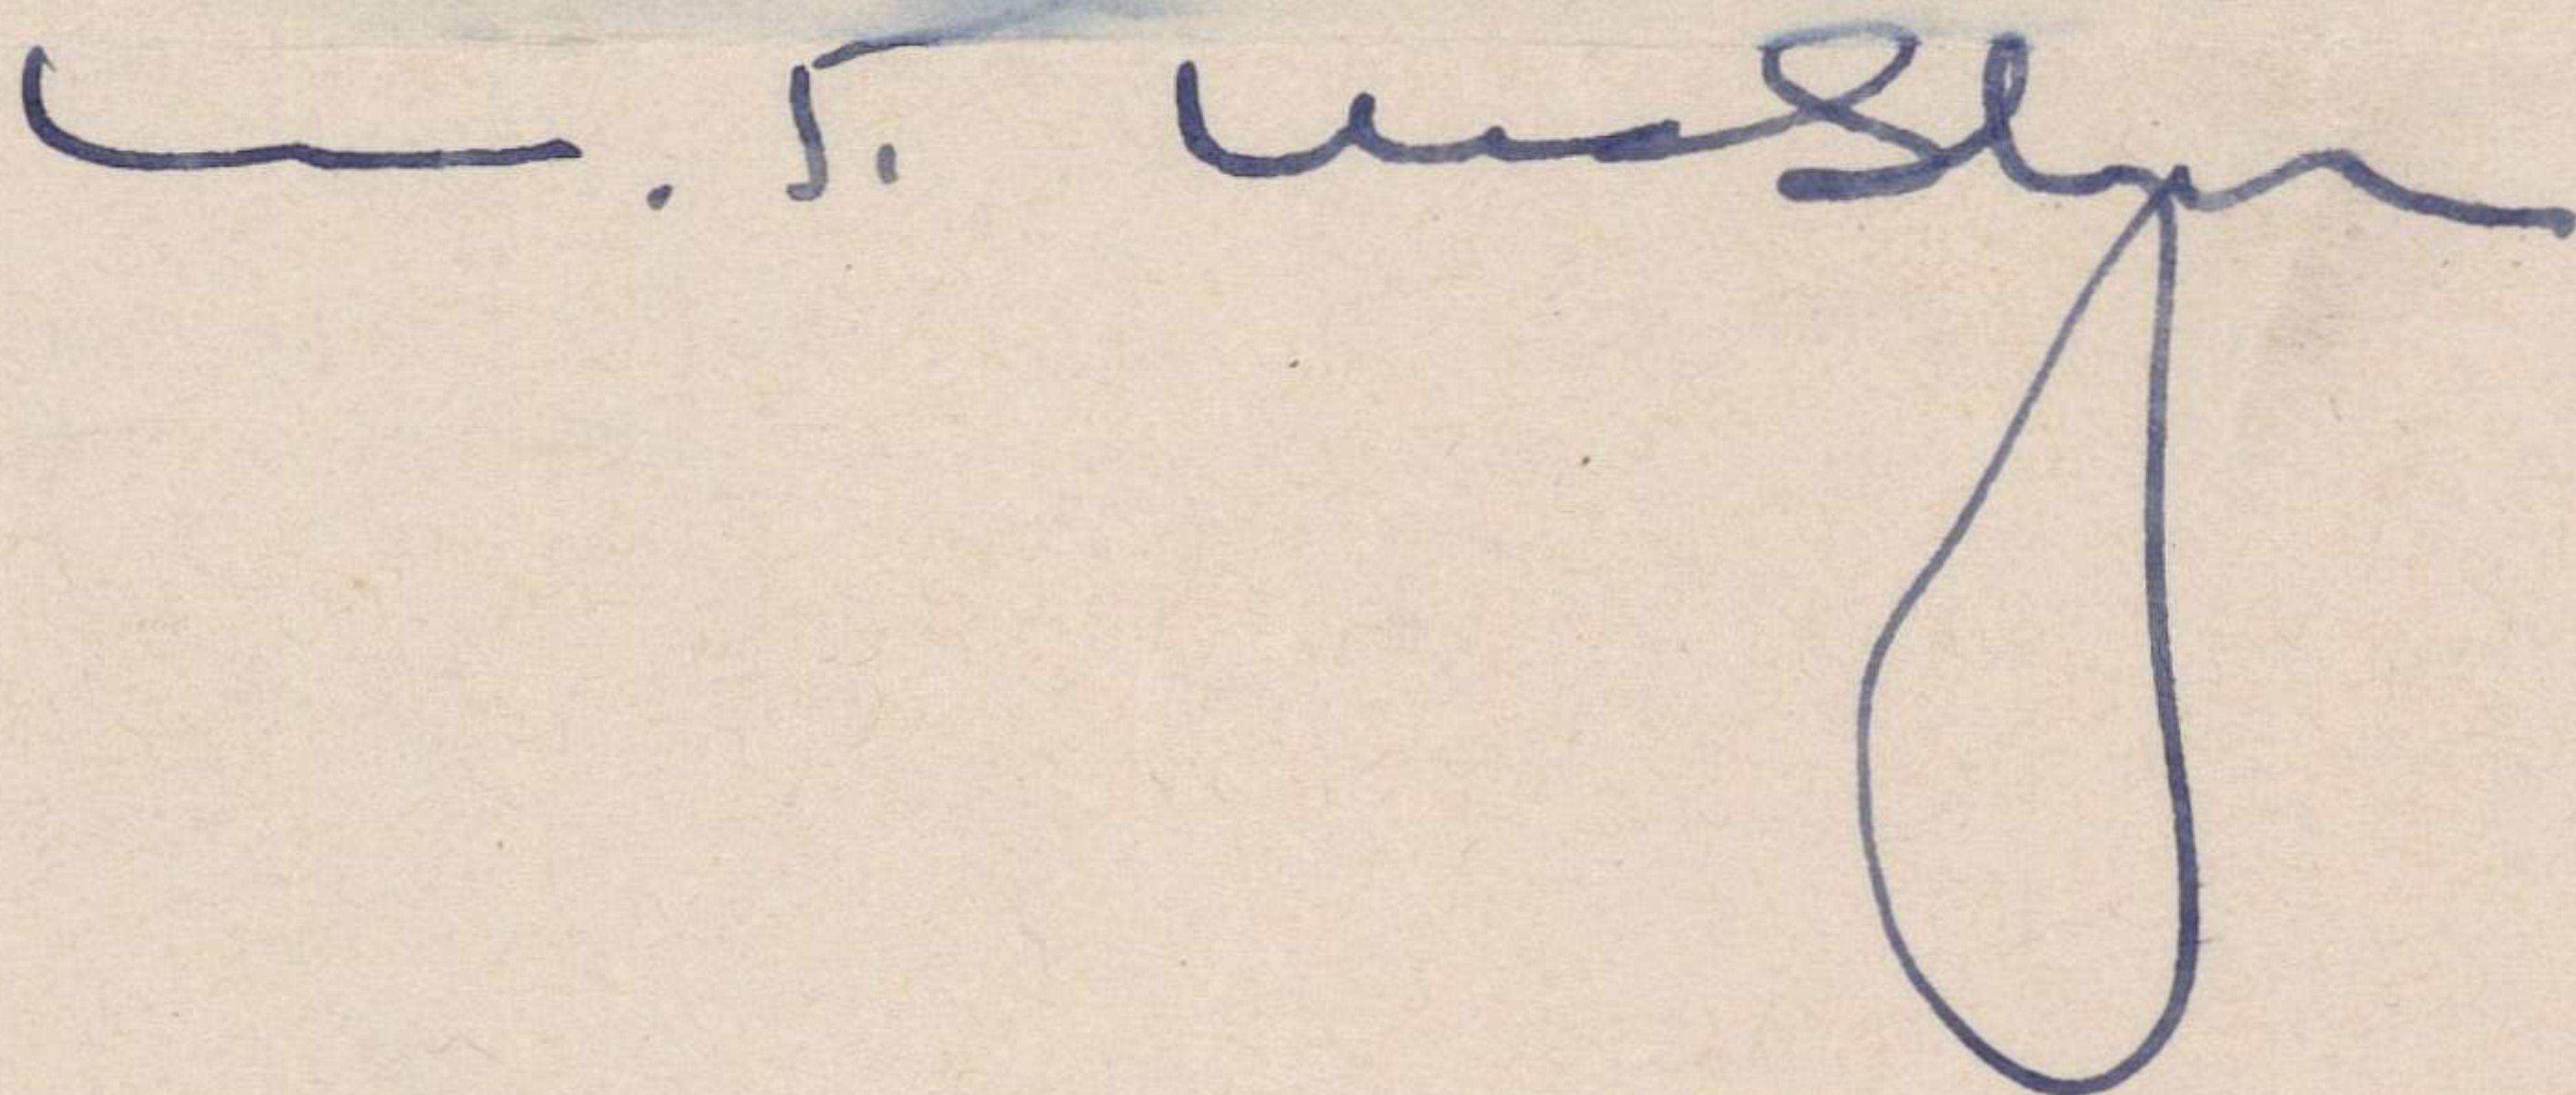

I would appreciate having some athletic information about a certain Geo E Rody, and I merely want this information for my own personal satisfaction. It is not to be used in any way whatsoever.

Did you have a Geo E Rody going to Kansas sometime around 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924 or 1925, and was he an outstanding basketball star?

Is it true that he was considered one of the best basketball players ever to attend Kansas, and was he named for any All American Teams by Colliers or any other leading national publications?

I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply, and would appreciate this courtesy.

Yours very truly,

Dear Elizabeth:

I am answering your good letter of January 10.

Examinations are just about over and we will soon know how many casualties we have on the basketball squad. However, I am counting on rather few because the boys are really excellent students. We might lose one, but I am hoping not.

I want to assure you that the MacCurdy's were more than welcome, and the sandwich or two that you ate I hope did not give you indigestion. Now to tell you the background of Mrs. Babcock.

Her son, Phil, is a freshman here in the School of Engineering. They live in White Plains, New York. Chi Galloway, head of Fraternities Incorporated, came to me saying that he had a letter from a Mrs. Babcock who was worried about her son. He said that he had thought a great deal about what member of the faculty he could approach with the idea of talking to Phil, and he had struck upon my name and wondered if I would write her.

Phil being a student in the Engineering School and a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, was difficult to locate but I finally made arrangements to meet him after many unsuccessful attempts. I had a conference with him after which I wrote the mother. She wrote me, thanking me for doing what I could for the boy, and stated that she would like to see me when we came to New York and talk more about Phil.

The only way that could be arranged was for her to procure a ticket to the game and she would visit with us after the game. She, being a widow, had no way to get in, so she told me that she made arrangements to have a neighbor drive her in, and she brought Phil's best girl, who lived in White Plains, along with them. That is how they happened to be in our party. It was the only way that she had an opportunity to see me while we were in New York. So you see I know no more about the gentleman and his connections than you do. He was a funny looking little fellow, wasn't he? But I understand that he played only the part of a chauffeur.

Sometime when we have a chance to get together for a long visit, I will tell you all about Catherine that I know and about the job here. I am sorry that I was rather brutal the way I put it, but you know we only had a few minutes going from table to table trying to have everyone feel that they were welcome.

The Waldo Bowman's, the Dr. O'Der's as well as Gevene Landrith and Mrs. Earl Gafford (nee Rankin) made quite a group for us, but they treated the boys royally, even though they did take a licking and the boys seemed to have a tremendously good time at the dance. I know their hearts were breaking at the licking they they got but they were good sports.

I am sorry regarding the news from Albany on your application for a certificate. What are you going to do about it? It seems a dirty shame that an excellent teacher like you should be hamstrung on nothing but technicalities.

My kindest regards to your good husband and to Howard. I am hoping that he has great success with his hockey and of course what goes along with it, and what is more important, his academic work.

Wishing you and yours the best yet and with kindest regards from all, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Allen: —

This letter has been on the tip of my pen ever since the night of the 28th and daily I've mentally castigated myself for not getting to it. So today — come what may I'm determined — I'm determined to get it off —

I simply can't really thank you for our evening. It was wonderful seeing you and Mrs. Allen again and getting a chance for even the brief bit of gossiping we did. And, incidentally, Deiga and I were glad to see that the team came home with something more than a grand sightseeing trip after all. I still am looking forward to the day when they will come back here and knock these birds' ears down for them. I get pretty sick of this "the east has so much better" stuff that everyone pulls on you around here — pha!

Of course old Dutch me was a little disgraced at the "party" you got stuck with after the game. Whether that was part of your plan I don't know but when I realized that you were going to be lost to the whole gang simply because we seemed to be following along & almost backed out. Leigh too was distressed because he said Erwin had talked with the manager at the Lincoln and he had no idea checks would stack up the way they did. The Sluzards are so thoroughly easternized by now that ~~these~~ things seem very ordinary to them I guess but I still can't get over being indignant at paying 40¢ for a ham sandwich. ~~Leigh!~~ I am the fool I guess - Well anyhow I hope the next time you get back there will be an opportunity to enjoy a visit at the Macurdys.

By the way, if either you or Mr.
Allen ever has a free moment for just chatter, I'd love knowing the background on Mrs. Babcock - you remember she,
and the girl and Gutterman with her,
brought us home that night, and as soon as we had been let out Leigh, Howard and I all said the same thing at the same time "Well, can you figure that out?" I had asked a few questions about the boy at K.U. and what with those answers and the bits of conversation which went on in the front seat, we found ourselves more² confused than ever - so we were just effrions.

School started here the day after New Year's and I've scarcely seen Jeff⁴ because he and Dana^{and} spend every spare minute at school where the hockey team is trying to convert their playing field into a skating rink. They've put side boards around it, and are flooding it with water from a creek near by with a gasoline pump and an old fire hose - The weather treats them with freezing one day and thawing the next so this seems to be once when Leiga is praying for a long cold spell, I'd be glad to go over and skate whenever it materializes but at this stage all I can do is stay home and have hot tea waiting for them when they come in wet and half-frozen.

I must give you the news from Albany on my application for certification. It is a perfect example of "rules is rules" and really handed me a wonderful laugh - I'm 18 hours short for their requirements.

1. Methods of Phys. Ed. — 3 hr —
2. Physical Inspection & Safety Ed - 2 "
3. Phys. Ed. Tests & Measurements - 3 "
4. General Anatomy — 2 " (how I don't know
I had 5 hrs. at Colchester)

Biology — 4 hrs —

Chemistry or Physics — 4 "

All of which is because my undergraduate work was in English & Columbia didn't think it necessary for me to fill in these groups for my masters. Of course I taught a course in Methods for six years, but since none appears on my transcript I'm deficient that. And here's the wonderful laugh. I couldn't teach Phy. Ed without 18 hours of work, altho I've had 16 years experience working in that field - but I can teach English in the public schools with only adding two hours to my credentials, yet have had no experience teaching that nor spent a semester hour on it since 1923. Isn't that the jay of it? When New York State can keep their estimable requirements, I wish the teachers I see working around here could deliver work that makes as good an impression as their credentials make on paper. Every time I run into these things I think of our old friend Hilda Appel, the girl I knew at Columbia. She had such an impressive array of credits and experience. Ha! Ha!

Well I must run along forever. Thanks again from all of us. Now we're anticipating the movement that will bring you back - Best always
Ed. Adams M. C. C.

In mailing, your picture was bent rather badly. It takes rather heavy cardboard to protect so large an envelope.

Dear Mac:

The tickets for the Oklahoma game were sold out the day before the Nebraska game which was played on February 10th.

The only thing left is standing room and my advice would be to get some folding chairs, the kind that are used in funeral parlors because they are more collapsible and more comfortable, and come and take a chance on finding a good spot for viewing the game. There are a lot of vacant spaces in the Auditorium where you could place a chair, but they will not sell any more seats.

I regret that I cannot do better for you. Let me know what you plan.

Dear Mac:

Thanks for your good letter, but I have some disappointing news for you.

Earl tells me that all the tickets are gone and the only thing he can do is sell you standing room. Now I would suggest this, Mac, that you get some folding chairs, the kind that they use at funeral parlors, with the carpet bottom, and buy a general admission ticket. If you will do this, then I will guarantee that we can find a nook or cranny where you can place the chair, but I would suggest that you come early.

All the games have been sell-outs, and I believe the Oklahoma A. and M. game will be the same way. It may be necessary to bring a chair for the A. and M. game also, because Earl told me a long time ago that all the tickets were sold out for that game.

I do not have any tickets and have not had a single one this year. I just go in and cry on Earl's shoulder and he has done a miraculous job of cooperating with us. You can count on first attention if there is any possible way for Earl or for me to extend any favor to you.

Dear Mac:

You are a swell Scotchman, Mac, and I appreciate the wonderful words that you wrote me.

You know there are a few fellows who can say a thing and make others believe it. You are one of those sincere fellows who, when you speak, the other fellow just eats up your words.

I imagine every fellow is vain enough to like nice words said about him, but when I remember what a battling chap you were and how you gave everything you had, then I know full well that you mean the things you say.

Thanks, Mac, it is great to have boys with you and under you that go out in life and come back and still believe that the things that were done were worthwhile.

Although we do not see much of each other, just flitting glimpses here and there, and a friendly word of greeting now and then, I want you to know that I count you as one of my very best friends. I admire you very much and that is why I so deeply appreciate the fine words that you have spoken.

Dear Doc:

In every man's life there are men who make profound impressions on you. You are one of those fellows, Doc. I sat there last night and saw you lose a ball game without ever whincing. I saw you take a bunch of youngsters -- two of them great ball players of course -- and develop a championship outfit. To me the task seemed insurmountable. You did this thing because of your tremendous energy, bull-dog tenacity, abundant in enthusiasm, and exceptional ability as a coach. If those boys who have a chance to spend three or four years with you could only realize that you are teaching them the rudiments of success in later life. The things that make you so successful as a coach are the traits which make anyone successful in business.

May the Good Lord bless you with the good health necessary to continue your good work.

Personally, I count every hour spent with you the most valuable in my college life.

I appreciate very much your favor of the 15th instant in which you express your disgust of the attitude of the Nebraska audience. I rather agree with you that Nebraska acted as if they could not take it.

Cy Sherman and I have about the same love for each other that apparently you and he have. Cy can never see anything bad in Nebraska and very little good in the other fellow.

Thank you for your kind wishes expressed in your letter, and I assure you I will pass this on to the boys who will be happy to know of your good letter. Kline is a graduate in the School of Business, and Engleman, in addition to graduating, is President of his class in the same school. Bob graduates here with an A.B. Degree. He has taken all his pre-medic work and will be enrolled in the University of Pennsylvania next fall. Many of his professors feel that Bob will go a long way in medicine. He has made a fine academic record here and has always wanted to study medicine, and we believe the University of Pennsylvania will give him the opportunity that he has long cherished.

Dear Dr. Allen:-

I thought I would wait a proper time until I got cooled down after the Lincoln game before I wrote you.

I had the opportunity and asked four fans here to go with me to Lincoln for the Kansas-Nebraska game the other night and I want to say that it was a hair raiser in all its glory and the boys covered themselves with plenty of it especially Bob Allen, Kline and Engleman. I do want to say the rooting and razzing was the dirtiest I ever witnessed but I have read many times of the Nebraska razzing but this was my first time to witness it first hand. I think the crowd was a dirty, louzy, poor losing bunch of sports and you can pass this along to Cy Sherman if you care to. He knows what I think of his football policy of hiring players and denying it.

The boys in losing the two other games were still a good sporting bunch of ball players anyway.

Capacity Crowd For Little Six League Banquet

Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen of K. U. Was
The Featured Speaker

Probably one of the largest crowds ever to attend a Little Six Basketball League banquet, gathered at the high school gymnasium in Gaylord Tuesday evening to pay homage to the court stars of the league who have furnished so many thrilling games for the fans of their communities during the past year. Another thing that brought such a crowd was the fact that "Phog" Allen, nationally known basketball coach of the many famous K. U. teams, was the main speaker of the evening.

County Supt. W. E. Lee was the toastmaster of the event, a position he has held for a number of years, and he introduced John Cole, Supt. of the Gaylord schools who made the welcoming address followed by a response from E. H. Windscheffel, supt. of the Athol schools. Mrs. LeBarge furnished the musical numbers of the evening with two voice solos.

Probably what was the most important portion of the evening's program was provided by Supt. Fred Weed of Kensington, who announced the All Star first and second teams and presented the trophy to the Gaylord squad who won the League championship. Supt. Weed gave the following as the Little Six All Stars, picked by the coaches for their outstanding ability and sportsmanship during the past season:

First Team—Paul Casteel of Gaylord and Eugene Frazier of Athol, forwards; Alfred Thomas of Gaylord and Roscoe Rorabaugh of Kensington, guards; Herbie Borgmann of Athol, center.

Second Team—Eldon True of Kensington and Bob Santner of Gaylord, forwards; Loren Conaway of Athol and Milo Wiehl of Kensington, guards; Loren Watts of Harlan, center.

The above boys are deserving of only the highest commendation and it is hoped that they will carry on through life with the same high type sportsmanship and ability shown in their basketball the past season.

Last but far from least on the program was the address by Dr. Forrest C. Allen, Phog to every basketball fan in the state, who gave what was considered by a large majority as the best talk of its kind ever given in this territory. His condemnation of the young man who starts to college and expects to make it through with athletic ability alone was aptly described in his statement "don't sell your academic birth right for a mess of pottage." Dr. Allen also repeated his scathing statements concerning football that gained the headlines of the big state dailies when it was heard several weeks ago but went further in his talk at Gaylord and stated why he considered his statements true which boiled down to a few words was, the 'hand picking' of athletes for big colleges regardless of student prowess and the furnishing of 'soft' jobs to keep them in school. The interest of every person present at the banquet was evidenced by the absolute quiet that reigned throughout his address as though everyone was waiting to hear what he would say next. Phog Allen's many years of experience as coach and physical education director and his experience with young people have taught him many things concerning the psychology of youth and it was an inspiration to hear him not only to the basketball boys but the parents and fans of each of the schools.
