MINUTES OF BUSINESS SESSION OF THE NATIONAL
BASKETBALL RULES COMMITTEE - APRIL 5, 1936.

The National Basketball Rules Committee went into executive session at 4:00 P.M. Sunday, April 5, 1936. The following members were present: F. C. Allen, W. McK. Barber, J. W. Bunn, Wilson Collins, H. G. Crisp, J. H. Crocker, W. E. Meanwell, H. V. Porter, Samuel Rogers, F. A. Rowe, J. W. St. Clair, L. W. St. John, H. H. Salmon, H. A. Swaffield, Oswald Tower, W. A. Witte.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman St. John. The chairman gave a resume of the salient facts connected with the history of the basketball committee. In the early years of the century basketball was played only sporadically and under various local sets of rules. The greater number of games were sponsored by the various Y.M.C.A. groups. The colleges gradually adopted the game and by about 1909 the college group sought a degree of uniformity by appointing a committee to draw up a set of rules which would govern all college games. This committee, of which Ralph Morgan was chairman, met in New York and during the period between trains drew up a code which was the forerunner of the present one. For the next several years this code was in common use in college games, but the Y.M.C.A. and A.A.U. organizations used other rules. About 1913 Dr. Raycroft called a conference of men representing the various organizations for the purpose of attempting to set up a single code for all groups. This conference resulted in the formation of a joint basketball committee and a resultant joint code of rules. This code remained in force during the next fifteen years. In the meantime the high school and college groups had perfected a nation-wide organization embracing thousands of schools. The colleges were organized into eight districts under the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the high schools by states under the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations. It soon became evident that the school organizations had become the major factor in the development of basketball since it had become one of the major school sports. In contrast to this the sport occupied a relatively minor position in the program of the Y.M.C.A . and the A.A.U. The representation of the two latter groups came to be more or less confined to a small section of the entire organizations. It was evident that any fair plan of representation would have to embody consideration for the powerful influence exerted on the sport by the high school organization. In consequence, largely through the influence of L. W. St. John, the National Federation was invited to join forces with the other organizations in drawing up suitable rules of play. This resulted in a committee which was so large as to be unwieldy and the result was a reorganization in 1933 which provided for a committee made up of eight representatives from the N.C.A.A., four from the National Federation, two from the Y.M.C.A., two from the A.A.U, and two from Canada. This committee was still regarded as rather large for efficient work. However, it functioned during the next three years. In 1935 the Y.M.C.A. and A.A.U. groups protested against the existing type of organization and proposed increased representation for their groups. This proposal did not meet with very great favor by either the National Collegiate, the National Federation or the Canadian representatives and, as a result, a proposed reorganization in 1935 resulted in a split vote and no action. Between that date and the 1936 meeting, the National Collegiate and the National Federation parent bodies instructed their delegates to attend a reorganization meeting called by Mr. St. John for April 4th, 1936. To this meeting all of the various groups were invited with the understanding that if they chose, the representation would be in the same proportion which had existed during 1935. The A.A.U. and Y.M.C.A. groups did not choose to become affiliated with the other groups on that basis. As a result the committee organized with the understanding that it would represent the National Collegiate Athletic Association with eight representatives in addition to Chairman St. John and Editor Oswald Tower, the National Federation with four representatives, the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association with one representative and the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union with one representative.

The chairman then called for suggestions relative to the name of the reorganized committee. It was moved by Barber, seconded by Swaffield and unanimously carried that the name "National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada" be adopted and that the notation be carried that this committee represents the four organizations mentioned above.

The committee then proceeded to a discussion of the adoption of a constitution to serve as a guide for the various activities of the committee. It was moved by Tower, seconded by St. Clair and unanimously carried that a small constitutional committee be appointed to remodel the previously adopted constitution and to bring it up to date and that the constitution as redrafted by the committee be submitted to the secretary for distribution to all members of the committee, this redrafted form to be considered in effect until such time as the committee meets again to formally vote upon its ratification.

The committee then proceeded to a discussion of matters pertaining to the printing and distribution of the guide. It was made clear by the chairman that under the new articles of agreement relative to reorganization that the National Federation or any other constituent group would have the right to print and distribute the rules as made by the joint committee in any manner which might best fit the type of organization of that particular group. It was further made clear that if this right were exercised by any one of the groups that that group would then take care of the expenses of its own representatives to the National Rules meeting. It was moved by Rowe, seconded by Barber and unanimously carried that this type of organization be approved.

There was a short discussion of matters pertaining to the proper time of distribution and the sentiment was expressed that distribution should be made as early as possible without interfering too greatly with a widespread sale of the guide. It was further understood that the time of distribution of the separates to be published by any one of the constituent organizations would be determined by the machinery of distribution in that organization. It was recommended that the time of distribution should not be later than the first part of October.

The committee discussed the matter of distribution of funds which may accrue to the committee through royalties. It was moved by Salmon, seconded by Collins and unanimously carried that all receipts from royalties should be placed in a committee fund, that from this fund all overhead expenses such as the editor's fee, cost of executive committee meetings and printing should be paid and that the remainder should go to the National Collegiate Athletic Association except that a percentage of this residue should go to the two Canadian organizations, this percentage to be in proportion to the percentage which the Canadian sales bear to the total sales of the guide.

It was moved by Salmon, seconded by Barber and unanimously carried that each constituent group recommend to its parent body that of the amount which is to be distributed from the fund which remained in the treasury from last year, one-fifth of the amount due each organization be left in the committee treasury for one year as a loan in order that the committee might have funds with which to meet current expenses.

It was moved by Meanwell, seconded by Allen and unanimously carried that a publications committee be appointed to make necessary arrangements for the publication of the 1936-7 guide and to transact all business matters which might properly come under the jurisdiction of a publications committee. It was understood that this would include the right to make proper arrangements with the various officials' organizations insofar as they are concerned with the material which is to be included in the almanac section of the guide. The chair appointed on this publications committee H. H. Salmon, Chairman, Oswald Tower, H. A. Swaffield and F. A. Rowe.

The chair appointed the following standing committees:

Research Committee: F. C. Allen, Chairman, H. V. Porter, F. A. Rowe, J. W. Bunn.

Questionnaire Committee: H. V. Porter, Chairman, J. W. St. Clair, Samuel Rogers, Wilson Collins, Oswald Tower, W. E. Meanwell.

It was moved by Barber, seconded by Tower and unanimously carried that the committee donate $10.00 to the McAlpin Hotel Employees' fund and that an expression of appreciation be sent to the hotel management for the excellent services which had been rendered the committee.

The meeting adjourned at 6:00 P.M.

To Members,
National Basketball Committee:

Enclosed are the minutes of the business meeting which was held Sunday afternoon, April 5th.

Because of the fact that notes for the earlier meetings were taken by Miss Smith, it will be necessary for the secretary to wait until her notes arrive before it will be possible to supply members of the committee with minutes for these earlier meetings. They will be sent as soon as the various parties concerned can get their records completed.

Yours truly,

H. V. Porter

Mr. John L. Griffith, President,
Dean Frank W. Nicolson, Secretary-Treasurer,
The National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Gentlemen:

As Chairman of the N.C.A.A. Committee and, also, Chairman of the Joint Basketball Committee, I wish to report as follows:

A meeting of the old Executive Committee was held at the McAlpin Hotel Friday evening, April 3. At this Executive Committee meeting all matters pertaining to the operation of the old National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada were officially closed. A full membership was present. A report received today from Treasurer A. E. Metzdorf, of the old Committee, practically closes that chapter. (Copy of Metzdorf's report attached)

Pursuant to your Basketball Chairman's interpretation of the N.C.A.A. Executive Committee action of May 3, 1935, a meeting of the N.C.A.A. Rules Committee was called for the McAlpin Hotel, in New York, Saturday, April 4. Other organizations previously associated with the N.C.A.A. were invited to attend and participate in the Rules Committee work on the former basis of representation. (4-National High School Federation, 2-A.A.U., 2-Y.M.C.A., 2-Canada) The National High School Federation and the Canadian delegates accepted the invitation and, therefore, were represented in the reorganization of the Basketball Rules Committee.)

This group decided to continue use of the name, National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada.

Permission was granted to the National High School Federation to print and distribute the rules adopted by this Rules Committee, it being understood that the High School Federation would not share in the royalty accruing from the sale of the Official Basketball Guide.

Canadian interests do not wish to print the rules, preferring to use the Official Guide as printed by the National Collegiate. It is the understanding of your Chairman that the question of Canadian interests sharing in basketball guide royalty was left open to be considered later on a basis of the number of Guides actually sold in Canada.

This Committee (National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada) organized by electing the following officers:

Chairman	L. W. St. John
Vice Chairman	H. H. Salmon, Jr.
Secretary	H. V. Porter
Treasurer	Floyd A. Rowe
Editor	Oswald Tower

Additional members of the Executive Committee:

J. H. Crocker
H. A. Swaffield
W. McK. Barber

A further action of the new organization was a motion that twenty percent of the funds distributed by Treasurer Metzdorf be loaned to the Committee for one year, in order that the Committee might have funds with which to meet current expense. May I request, therefore, that Treasurer Nicolson send to Mr. Floyd A. Rowe, Treasurer, Address, Board of Education, Cleveland, Ohio, Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) to comply with the action taken. I am assuming that the National High School Federation will send Mr. Rowe One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), and that Canada will supply Mr. Rowe with Twenty Dollars ($20.00), which will place in our Treasurer's hands Three Hundred Twenty Dollars ($320.00). These amounts are to be considered as a loan to the new Committee, said loan to be repaid out of the 1936-37 royalty funds.

All N.C.A.A. Districts were represented at this year's Basketball Rules Committee meeting.

If any member of the N.C.A.A. Executive Committee or any member of the Rules Committee to which this report is being sent desires more detail information, I will be glad to supply the same to the best of my ability.

Respectfully submitted,

L. W. St. John,
Chairman.

Dear Sir:

Attached you will please find a suggested copy of the Constitution and By-Laws of the National Basketball Committee, the same having been drawn up by Mr. H. H. Salmon several years ago.

My reason for including the paragraph concerning the membership of the A.A.U. and Y.M.C.A. is so that it will be clear to every one who takes time to go over the Constitution, that those two organizations have voluntarily withdrawn.

If you have suggestions to make in regard to changes you feel should be made, I will be very glad to hear from you.

Very truly yours

Floyd A. Rowe

Denver Honors Father of Basketball

DENVER has as its honored guest in the National A. A. U. Basketball Tournament Dr. James A. Naismith, the inventor of the game. What the committee hopes was a fitting tribute was paid the "father of basketball" opening night. None was more deserving of the honor than the only living inventor of a major sport, one that has swept the world and is being included on the Olympic program for the first time this year.

We hope this has been a happy homecoming for Dr. Naismith. You see, he coached the first championship team in the Rockies at the Denver Y. M. C. A. in 1897. That was just a few years after he invented the game at Springfield Y. M. C. A. College in 1891. So we trust his return to the scene of early triumphs will revive pleasant memories.

One of Colorado's pretty mountain streams

Once Again

DENVER is playing host to the cream of the crop—crack basketball teams from all over these United States that are competing in the National A. A. U. Tournament. Denver made its bow in 1935 by staging one of the best tournaments on record. This year the committee feels it will be the BEST EVER.

Teams are here from every section of the country. They honored Dr. James A. Naismith, inventor of the game, in a stirring parade-of-teams Monday night. The rest of the week they are battling for two coveted prizes—the national championship and a possible trip to the Olympic games as Uncle Sam's representative.

The winner and runnerup at Denver will go to New York for the American finals against six other teams, five college and one Y. M. C. A. We feel the Denver winner will march under the stars and stripes at Berlin. We hope so, anyway.

OFFICIAL ALL-AMERICAN TEAM, 1935

Chuck Hyatt, forward.
Francis Johnson, forward.
Joe Fortenberry, center.
Bud Browning, guard.
Herman Fischer, guard.
(All these players are in action here again.)

And now a bit of history for you, as you mark time until the shooting starts:

Here are the National Champions since 1920:
1920—New York University.
1921—Kansas City, Missouri, Athletic Club.
1922—Lowe-Campbell, Kansas City, Mo.
1923—Kansas City Athletic Club.
1924—Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind.
1925—Washburn College, Topeka, Kan.
1926—Hillyard Chemical Company, St. Joseph, Mo.
1927—Hillyards.
1928—Cook Paint Co., Kansas City, Mo.
1929—Cook's.
1930—Henry's Clothiers, Wichita, Kan.
1931—Henry's.
1932—Henry's.
1933—Diamond D-X Oilers, Tulsa, Oklahoma.
1934—Diamond D-X Oilers.
1935—Southern Kansas Stage Lines, Kansas City, Missouri. (Team defending its title in 1936 as Santa Fe Trails.)

MAY THE BEST TEAM WIN THE TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONSHIP!
