

family for a week or two. The hypertensions of this modern life are a little too much for some finely fabricated souls, and I think a rest will do them both good.

Mrs. Allen bought a home in our eight hundred block and it happens to be on the same side of the street that our house is on. Milton wants to finish with his law degree, and although he has a degree in the business school, he is with the personnel division of the Stanolind Oil Corporation, and he thinks a law degree will permit him to go much further. And I rather share his opinion. However, he is wavering between two propositions - at the present the Stanolind people are offering him a very nice increase to stay with them, but they have also promised him a leave to get his law degree. And I believe Mrs. Allen bought that house on the same street as ours just to get that little red-haired child, Judy, in the neighborhood for a while. Gee, Cob, she is a swell kid, and Isabel and Mit are doing fine out at Ellinwood. So you can see the Allen family is in quite a dither at the present, wondering whether Milton is going to stay by the guns for an increase in salary, which I think is not as important as coming back and finishing his law degree while he has the opportunity. The financial side is all worked out and it is just up to him as to what future he sees in both propositions.

With all good wishes, I am, as ever

Sincerely yours,
