

POLL COACHES ON AWARD

THE Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Committee is at present polling a group of coaches to select the winner of the annual award for an outstanding individual contribution to the game of basketball. The New York City colleges have created this award for the National Association of Basketball Coaches to give annually at the time of the convention. That's just another one of the features which await you members at the gathering in New Orleans.

Nels Norgren, president of the national body, appointed Nat Holman of City College, Ed Hickox of Springfield, Blair Gullion of Cornell, Everett Dean of Stanford, Forrest Cox of Colorado, Paul Hinkle of Butler and Harry Rabenhorst of L.S.U. as members of the coaches body to name the award winner.

JOIN YOUR OWN ORGANIZATION

THE National Association of Basketball Coaches is your organization. The association needs your help to maintain its program. This bulletin is the last regular issue before next fall. Do not forget to send in your dues. We are listing below a few of the new members and may not include all up to date since the list was complete only through the end of February.

Despite the request contained in the last issue of the Bulletin only two coaches took time to send in material for this issue. It is impossible to edit this publication without full cooperation. Remember next fall that all items of interest from the coaching fraternity are needed to make this valuable to the membership.

Ned Irish, editor.
