Mr. John W. Bunn,
Dean of Men,
Stanford University,
California.

Dear Johnny:

The pamphlet from the MacMillan Company has just come to my desk announcing your new "Basketball Methods". The whole get up sounds very interesting, and we are ordering some for our physical education library. Of course, we will be happy to use it as one of our reference textbooks on basketball.

We note that the book will be published in June, so I imagine if we will fire the order in now the books will be forthcoming soon. It will indeed be a pleasure for me to peruse it.

I trust that the book will be highly successful, both as a means of income and as a source of gratification to you in your effort.

With all good wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

I have been asked by Mr. Charles Bonebrake, a senior at Baker University, Baldwin City, Kansas, to write you concerning his qualifications for consideration for a graduate fellowship at your institution. It is my understanding that Mr. Bonebrake will receive his A. B. degree from Baker University this June and that he is desirous of entering Springfield College for further study.

I have known Charles Bonebrake from his intermediate school days in Lawrence, through the time he graduated from the Lawrence High School, and then entered the University of Kansas for one semester. After that time his family moved to Parsons, Kansas, and he entered Parsons Junior College. From there he entered Baker University and has been an outstanding student on that campus. He has played for several years on the Baker University basketball team and with exceptional success. Charles was also a star on the Lawrence High School team as well as the Parsons Junior College team.

Mr. Bonebrake is married and has a lovely wife. I have known his parents for a great number of years and they are exceptionally fine people with a fine background. Charles is a clean, personable, athletic type of individual who does not use narcotics nor alcoholic beverages in any way. On the other hand, he is a forceful individual and exerts his personality for the best things in life. He has a fine brain and a promising future. I would recommend him without reservation or evasion, and I trust that you will be in position to give his application very serious consideration.

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

Dr. T. K. Cureton,
Director, Graduate Division of Health and Physical Education,
Springfield College,
Springfield, Massachusetts.

My dear Dr. Cureton:

Charles Bonebrake with his wife and father and mother drove up from Baldwin, Kansas, to my home last Sunday afternoon to ask me to write your college telling of his worthiness for consideration for one of your graduate teaching fellowships. When he told me that he had received letters or correspondence giving you as director of the Graduate Division of Health and Physical Education I desired to write you a personal letter to tell you what a splendid chap Charles is.

I have known Charles Bonebrake all of his life. His parents lived in Lawrence before going to Parsons, Kansas, where Charles entered the Junior College. From there he went to attend Baker University at Baldwin, Kansas. Charles has always been a star basketball player and a fine, clean, personable young man. I have always been very fond of him because he impressed me with his seriousness of purpose and his desire to master the finer things in life. He was a boy who always travelled the higher trail of clean, happy, purposeful living. He was too busy to delve in the things that would not count in the career of a young boy who wanted to make the most of his opportunities.

I am very happy to recommend him to you without reservation, and I trust that you will give his application serious consideration. If he should be fortunate enough to receive a fellowship I am sure that the benefit will be reciprocal, both to you and to him. As I stated in my other letter, he has a very lovely wife and one that will help him much in his future endeavor.

It was good to see you at San Francisco at the National Health and Physical Education meeting. Although I saw you several times when we did not have an opportunity to speak, it was good to have the short and happy greeting that we did have. I think of you and the other men on the Springfield campus very often, and it is always with cherished memories that I recall those five very pleasant summers that we had. I would like to be remembered especially to Professor Mohler, retired Dean Affleck, and any others that should perchance recall that wild westerner from Kansas who brought his grandchildren back with him on his summer trip.

With all good wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

LL HENRY SAYS:

It must be quite painful for a fine old gentleman like Dr. James Naismith to sire a game like basketball and then be forced to sit back and watch the younger generation of coaches spoil his offspring until he has difficulty in recognizing it.

PARENTAL PANGS

I see that the good doctor, showing up in New York the other day to watch the game he fathered being played before a crowd of 18,000 people, demonstrated that his 77 years have not dimmed his interest in basketball. He took direct issue with the rules committee on three points:

1.—The new rules and their interpretation handicap the offensive team.

2.—The officials don't enforce or interpret the rules properly, and

3.—Elimination of the center jump cut out one of the most interesting features of the game.

I'm afraid that I'll have to string with the doctor on No. 3 and confess that I don't know enough about the other two points to debate them.

TOO MUCH TOOTING

My own experience with basketball has been this—as long as it was just a game it was a lot of fun to play and to watch. When the coaches began to apply too much thought to it and began "improving" it with a flock of new rules and new interpretations the trouble started and it soon developed into a whistling solo by the referee. Study the statistics on any close game and you'll see that the game is decided by the referee rather than by the players. The free throws more often than not are the deciding factor in the contest. I like to see the game decided by the players. Officials are too evident in all games nowadays.

OLYMPIC BASKETBALL

When the good doctor put up his peach baskets in the Springfield Y.M.C.A. gymnasium back in 1892 he had only 13 rules altogether. Now they have rules and interpretations and footnotes and explanations by the dozen. Not only that but the boys are all for more "improvements" in the game. I'll not soon forget the look on the good Games in Berlin when he found out what the foreign countries wanted to do to his beloved game. It was quite a setback for him in the moment of his greatest triumph—when he saw the athletes of 21 nations participating in the game which he had invented 45 years previously.

KEEP 'EM SHORT

You'll remember that the American squad, which won the championship quite easily, was made up of a combination of the local boys who won the Olympic playoff and the Oklahoma gang who were runners-up. Among them were such human Eiffel Towers as Joe Fortenberry, who was 6ft. 8in. tall, and any number of other giraffe-like individuals. When they lined up against the normal or undersized foreigners they made a joke of the game, for, in addition to the enormous advantage of size, they were a great deal more skillful and experienced. Well, to make you see the reaction, the International Federation promptly began discussing a regulation to limit the game to players of 6ft. and under. How's that for a regulation on a world's championship event?

OUT OF OLYMPICS

Anyhow, that was the end of basketball as an Olympic event—at least for the present. It won't be played at Helsinki in 1940. As a matter of fact, of course, height is an advantage when everything else is equal, but it isn't a necessity. Sam Barry is doing pretty well with a Trojan squad that isn't any too tall and apparently the best high school basketball team in this neighborhood is the Hollywood High team, which doesn't have a single 6-footer on the line-up. But, at all events, when the coaches labor under the notion that the way to improve a game is to change the rules they certainly gum things up. The game's exciting, all right, but it's more maddening than anything else.

THE GOOD DOCTOR

When Doc Naismith started the game of basketball he had nine players on a side . . . The reason was that he was simply inventing a game to give winter exercise to a group of 18, so he just divided 'em into two teams . . . His players were all guys training to become Y.M.C.A. secretaries . . . One of the original players, I believe, lives in Redlands now . . . Naismith is a double-doctor . . . He is a doctor of medicine and an ordained minister . . . He has never worked at either profession, but has been in athletic work all his life . . . He's on the faculty at the University of Kansas and Phog Allen, who coaches basketball there, has had remarkable success . . .

Mr. Maurice L. Breidenthal,
Security National Bank,
Kansas City, Kansas.

Dear Maurice:

I do not have a clipping of the Gene Kemper article, but I am sending you a copy of his article that some one left here, but wanted it returned.

I haven't much to say, only I am just sending this to you to show you the general slant of Kemper and some of his allies. I have some personal ideas about who some of these people might be, but just dismiss all this until I have a chance to visit with you. I just wanted you to at least know about it, so when I refer to it you will know what I am speaking about.

I also want to thank you for your letter of the 6th instant. I did not want you to take this matter up in an official way. I merely wanted you to see the letter that I had written. I am now sending you confidentially a copy of Dean Swarthout's letter to me and my reply to him. You can see that he puts class recitations in organ on the same plane as varsity basketball practice, or any other teaching schedule of any teacher.

Personally, I would much rather go back to the gymnasium. I am not bluffing. But I will talk to you about this when I have a chance to see you. I realize that for me to take it up with you in an official way would be about the worst thing that could happen, because that would hardly be considered cricket. Our Athletic Board, or rather three members of it - Professor Davis, Karl Klooz, and Ray Moore - took it up with the Chancellor two years ago, about our being able to practice there, and the Chancellor told them that that had been decided several years ago at a conference with Dean Swarthout, the Chancellor, and myself. You can see that both gentlemen hold to the viewpoint that before the building was built, if I did make an agreement, which I did, that it might be possible for a man to make a mistake. I did not realize how difficult those baskets are to hit, and I certainly didn't realize that they were going to take it for every orchestra practice, band, and everything else. It was just one mistake I made and they are taking advantage of an agreement made several years ago. I hardly think that is cricket, either.

Assuring you that I value your friendship very highly, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

Miss Ruth Baker,
429 So. 10th St.,
Salina, Kansas.

Dear Miss Baker:

I am just leaving for Columbia, Missouri, this afternoon to see the Iowa State game there tonight, but I wanted to drop you a note in answer to your letter of the 6th and 8th. I will write you more fully later.

Just remember this - that Salina is the home of Methodism, Kansas Wesleyan being a Methodist college. Those people there have had Methodism in their families for generations, and anything that has the word "dance" in it is against their principles. So I would advise you not to fight against that.

I took this letter over to Miss Dunkel this morning and she read it. She had had a similar problem in Arkansas City when she was there in 1924 and 1925. It is our suggestion that you go on with your work, changing the name of the course to "rhythmic games", or to something on that order, but leave the word "dance" out of it.

Handle the matter discreetly, and don't tell anybody about it, but just go ahead with your "rhythms". Many times the patrons in a community rise up and protest against something, and quite often they don't know what they are fighting about.

You have made a splendid record there in Salina, and we want to do everything we can for your continued success. I am glad you wrote me, and I expect to write you more fully a little later.

With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Jan 6, 1939.
At school.

Dear Mr. Allen:

I suppose that by this time everything is back in full swing at the University and business has probably picked up considerably since the semester ends soon.

Our semester ends here Jan 20. I guess that means that my business will pick up too; for I have to give out grade cards for the first time. Of course I only have 325 to make out. Thank goodness we don't put them out every six weeks.

School is rolling along fine and dandy again. You notice I say again. I thought that it always had been quite o.k. until yesterday I received a letter from Haring, the H.S. principal, informing me that I was not to teach folk dancing. I could teach the same material provided I did not call it dancing but would call it Folk Games. He said "Of course I realize that the school and you are not interested in teaching dancing - etc." Now can you imagine anyone being so old-fashioned and might I say "stupid"? It really burned me up. I'm still not going to be satisfied until I have a talk with him. After all, I haven't taught Folk Dancing since before Thanksgiving, why get his ire up now?

Mr. Fass, the principal in this bldg., visited my folk dance classes several times because he said he enjoyed them and that they were quite the thing for the students. He even wanted to participate if he had that he dared, Ha! That just goes to show how different our principals can be. No one is in love with Waring anyway and after finding out how narrow minded he is, I'll lose my love, too, I s'pect.

I wish you and Miss Dunkel McCurdy would give a broadcast on dancing & notify him to listen in. Do you have any extra copies of the broadcast you gave last year on dancing?

I hope you'll show Elizabeth this letter. I wish she could tell Waring a few things. I intend to give him my ideas on this subject, even tho they won't be as forceful and complete as someone else might do, it may do him good & I'm sure it will do him no harm.

So much for that. I just had it in my system and it had to come out.

Is Eliz. planning to leave soon? Who is taking her place? No one will ever be able to take her place. They may hold the classes but it just won't be the same.

Jan 8.

You can see that this first part is beginning to get rather old but I still am going to send it. I always have respect for old age anyway.

I felt sorry for the N. U. team last evening, but I still think that they'll make a name for themselves before the season ends.

I thought by this time I'd have the dancing problem solved, but it gets more complicated every day. Mr. Waring has been out of town and I've been unable to have a conference with him; however, in the meantime Ernestine (gym teacher in Lincoln Bldg.) has rec'd her notice, and our bldg. principals are really up in the air about it. In fact the word has spread like fire throughout the teaching staff & they all are backing Ernestine and me.

The annual "Say It With Music" is to get in progress shortly, and unless we are permitted to teach folk dancing in our classes, the Phys. Ed. department is out of "Say It With Music" which means considerable in this town.

We have a very broad-minded Supt over us & he has faith in us so we're feeling quite unharmed by the whole matter.

I certainly enjoyed the news letter from Susan in December. I wish I could drop in on a meeting sometime but I guess that is almost impossible since the meetings are not on Sat or Sun.

Oh, yes, I must tell you how famous I'm getting at bowling. There's a $1 prize at the Bowling alley each week for the best score. I won last week. Imagine that. The third time I've bowled. He! A bowling team has asked me to join them and play every ~~every~~ Wed. nite against other teams here as well as at Abilene, McPherson, and a few other towns. I'm not sure yet whether I will or not.

If I don't bring this to a close soon I'll have to pay 10¢ postage on it. That would never do. He!

I'm always eager to hear from H. U. people and I'm hoping to hear a dance broadcast in the future.

Best Wishes

Ruth Baker.

January 16, 1939.

Wible,
Athletics,
of Texas,
AS.

Good letter of the 11th instant arrived Saturday up taking a licking from the University of our boys are really off form this year, and I believe they are worse off than when we were down in Texas. We played pretty fair ball down there, but the boys have gone haywire since.

Now, in regard to your inquiry concerning Glenn Cunningham. First, I want to say, D. K., that nothing would give me more pleasure than to see Glenn run down there, but I must give you a background of his activities. You see, Glenn is in the Extension Division of the University and has the rank of associate professor.

Glenn has been all over the United States, and frankly
I have seen him but once since September. I believe this week he is in Patterson, New Jersey, and Boston, Mass., and other points East. He was down in Texas two or three weeks ago. I frankly believe that the fellows in the more remote parts of the country will see him as often as I do.

I sent Glenn's little youngster a Christmas present and had the jeweler deliver it, thinking that he would be at home on Christmas, but my jeweler told me that he had been unable to deliver the gift as Glenn hadn't been home for nearly a month. And your letter just reminds me of the fact that I should call the jeweler and see if Glenn has been home long enough to receive it yet.

I understand that when he ran in New York he flew back to Kansas City and had an appointment for one hour in the Extension Division the Monday following the weekend that he ran, but I did not get to see him at all. I have never seen such a demand on an athlete's time. He sometimes fills three appointments in one day and gets $100 for each appearance. And of course there is a very heavy expense account in connection with his trips, as it is sometimes necessary for him to charter an airplane to make his connections. It won't be a regularly scheduled stop, so he is forced to charter the plane and that runs up into a lot of money.

I remember he appeared in Oregon one day and somewhere in the South the next. You can see what a fellow is up against when someone attempts to book him. The booking is all done under the auspices of the Extension Division, of which Mr. H. G. Ingham is the director. Mr. Guy Keeler, who arranges the itinerary and handles all the details, is Mr. Ingham's first assistant.

All of Glenn's income is handled by the Extension Division of the University of Kansas. Glenn is on a straight salary and does not get the proceeds from these scheduled meetings.

So I hardly know what to say to you, D. X. I would like to help you and if there is any possible way that I could I would certainly be happy to do so. Glenn is not connected with the athletic department in any manner. Neither does he receive any money from the Athletic Association. It is a straight University appointment. If, after reading this letter, there is any way in which I can help you, please command me.

It was mighty nice to be in your lovely home and to meet your very hospitable family. I trust that you got in some good hunting when you made that little excursion the day of our last game.

With all good wishes to you and your fine staff, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,

SPORTS ROUND-UP

Yankees Have Not Given Up on Land- ing Coast Sensation—Kansas Cagers Outstanding

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP).—The Yankees haven't given up on Freddie Hutchinson yet—even though the Pirates are supposed to have the deal cinched for the coast kid... One of the champs' bosses tells this department it isn't anywhere near settled—and that if the Yanks really want Freddie, no other club can outbid 'em... You can definitely write off the rumor that has Adam Walsh switching from Bowdoin to coach Holy Cross... Were there any backfires on officials over that row in the Arkansas-Rice game—or is it all forgiven... Wonder if folks generally realize that in the past eight years, old Phog Allen's Kansas basketball teams have won six Big Six titles, tied for a seventh and finished second the other time... Who said these young fellers are such hot stuff?

Steven Owen says what really won his Giants the pro championship over the Packers in that thriller yesterday was all the talk that his boys were so "lucky"... "After we beat the Packers two weeks ago and Washington last week," says Steve, "everybody hollered we were the luckiest club ever... So no one gave my kids credit for being as smart as they really are—and they fooled everybody, including Green Bay."... Now that the Giants have Zeke Bonura for first base, what's going to happen to Brooklyn's Buddy Hassett... The thrush has shown that he's definitely big league stuff, so the Dodgers ought to trade him where he'll have a shot at first basing... Instead of trying to make an outfielder out of him... The kid deserves the chance.

They're certainly keeping things in the family on that Tulane basketball outfit... For instance, Forward Paul Pare is a brother of the Wave's tennis coach; Guard Joe Anderson is a nephew of Track Coach Fritz Cakes; little Monk Simons, Jr., is a son of the boxing coach, and Capt. Gene Harmon is a brother of Tom, the sophomore halfback... Down at Mississippi college they shifted Capt. Joe Hitt from back to end this year—so all he did was score 80 points... Incidentally, Joe's also captain of the basketball and track teams, infields for the baseballers and is president of the student body... Quite a boy.

The reason Paul Derringer won't be a holdout next spring is that the Reds boosted his 1939 contract figures so high—and tossed him a bonus check for last year to boot—that he rushed right up there and got on the dotted line... Tommy Farr's fight career will be just about washed up in the U. S. A. if he finishes on the short end against Lou Nova Friday... The big chains ought to catch Harry Ginsburg's football broadcasting on New Britain High's games... He's been doing it four years now, and the folks up that way say he's as good as any of 'em... Baseball men are pouring into this village on every train for the big league meetings.

The incoming mail contains a vote for Joe Giaccone, Bogalusa, La., half-back, who only covered 426 yards in six touchdown gallops—from 44 to 94 yards each... There'll be both mutuel and handbook betting at Havana's Oriental park for the racing meet next month—which should satisfy everybody... The boys coming back nominate Farmer Seale of the Selma (Ala.) Times Journal as the youngest sports editor at the New Orleans baseball meeting... He's 21... How about those Logan, (Ia.), High footballers—they only won 31 and tied one in their last 32 starts since 1935... College coaches might look over Lee Fitch, the sparkplug of the outfit.

and for making arrangements for our transportation.
It was swell of you to do this.

We will be down there and will try to beat the Sooners, but we don't look very hot or very ready.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

Mr. C. O. Burnside,
Manager, Carpenter Paper Co.,
Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Cob:

I am just dropping you a line to let you know that our basketball team will need some sort of motor transportation between Oklahoma City and Norman. We will arrive in Oklahoma City on the Santa Fe at 7:45 o'clock Saturday morning.

I find that the Santa Fe does not stop at Norman any more at night, so we will have to get back to Oklahoma City after the game in time to catch the train that leaves at 10 p.m. It might be a good idea to arrange for a bus, or any mode of travel you think best, but I will talk to you about that Saturday morning.

I hope that you didn't get too much of a shock when the Sooners got knocked into a cocked hat. I thought that they would get a licking because Tennessee is just tougher than they are in our conference, but I did think they would make a better showing than they did. But we are still for Tom Stidham and his boys.

Kindest regards. Will see you Saturday.

Cordially yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

1. Player A is attempting a free throw. After the throw and while the ball is still resting on the rim of the basket a teammate of A jumps up and bats the ball into the basket. Is the goal allowed?

Answer: No. Rule 14, Sec. 13

2. A member of team A is attempting a free throw. The ball misses the basket entirely, strikes the floor, but a teammate on team A picks up the ball and throws a field goal. Does the goal count?

Answer: No. Rule 14, Sec. 9.

3. A member of team A is attempting a free throw. The ball misses the basket entirely, and a teammate on team A catches the ball and attempts to put it in play. The referee gives the ball to team B underneath team A's basket. Is this the correct ruling?

Answer: Yes. Rule 14, Sec. 9

4. A member of team A shoots a high looping shot for his basket. Just at this juncture an agile, altitudinous guard of team B jumps high in the air and reaches above the basket to take the ball cleanly a foot above the cylinder of team A's basket. The referee declares a field goal. Is this correct?

Answer: Yes. Rule 7, Sec. 7

5. The referee puts the ball in play on a toss-up at center. While the ball is in its ascent, Center A taps the ball before it reaches its highest point. The referee awards the ball to a member of team B out of bounds at the side line. Is this correct?

Answer: Yes. Rule 8, Sec. 6

Mr. C. G. Bayles, Supt.,
Buildings and Grounds.

Dear C. G.:

I am sending over an old basketball which I thought your son, Bob, and his friends might enjoy for a little while. The ball is rather out of shape, the lining being torn in a place or two, but I still think there is some good play left in the ball, and if Bob would like to have it we are more than happy to pass it on to him.

With best wishes, I am
