

September 30, 1927.

Mr. A. A. Schabinger,
Director of Athletics,
Creighton University,
Omaha, Nebraska.

Dear Schabie:

I will be glad to have a chat with you regarding the things you discussed in your letter concerning the man who has been misrepresented.

I am glad to know that you are preparing your stationery and your book with the constitution printed therein. Since your letter I have heard from Schlademan and Mather. I would be glad for you to suggest a nomination for the chairmanship of the officials committee.

I am not sure whether you have Mather wrong or not. He has had a bad operation and may not be quite well. He was one of the first fellows to write in the Acts of Meanwell in killing the dribble. I would be glad to have you give me your slant on what you think about it.

I agree with you that if McNichol does not answer soon that we should appoint someone else in his place on the present committee. I also agree with you that it is a matter of good form to have the officials accept in writing. You have been studying the replies coming to you and I believe you would be in a better position to suggest a chairman in Mather's place than I would. I want your counsel please, Schabie. Write me, will you?

Very cordially yours,

Director.

FCA:W