"I thanked the general for his courtesy. He pushed eside my thanks, and asked me to thank American students for their aid to China. "We look to America as our best friend', he told me; then with a bow-he had to remain within the inner wall -- he ushered me past the Chinese sentry."

"All the girls present had already worked twelve hours.... They had come directly to the meeting, and did each night without supper.... They are usually the sole support of their families, and wages average about $12,00 a month (one dollar gold). This was their only organization. Unions are illegal. They come to these meetings secretely. Next week's meeting is to discuss 'Marriage Problems' -- one of their major interests I was told. Ninety percent will never be able to marry. Most will die before thirty."

"All of your spare energy should be put in to the FESSF this year in the region, both for its volue to China and to keep American students from becoming so completely absorbed in the European situation that they forget the lesson of the Far East."
