

record but what I am interested in is beating Oklahoma. I am not interested in whether Engleman breaks Frank Grove's goal record or whether he breaks McNatt's or Mesche's all-game total.

While Engleman is a very valuable man, I think it is most unfortunate publicity to have a boy feel that the whole thing is dependent upon him. The team's success is the only success that is durable and not individual success, because the other four boys must help him. It is unfair to the other players because Engleman is not a strong defensive man. His errors in passing are very noticeable to everyone, therefore, the other boys must give of their defensive strength more emphatically and nothing is ever said about it.

It is difficult to keep morale on a team when only one man is played to the heights, or even when two men are played up unduly.

Marvin Sollenberger, our regular guard, is in the hospital under observation and will not be in the Oklahoma game. This is confidential, but the doctors at the hospital are afraid of glandular fever. This is not a critical disease but a very serious one and might incapacitate him for several months. The lymphatic glands in his neck are swollen and he is running a temperature. Blood counts are being made and we are hopeful it is not as bad as first supposed. However, we will know in a little while but it will be too late, of course, for the Oklahoma game.

We will start either T.P. Hunter of Oklahoma City or Charles Walker of Hutchinson. That will cause a shift of the forwards also. We will use either Vance Hall or John Buescher as the other forward with Engleman, and Bob and John Kline will play the other positions.

If you want to quote me in my expression of the N.C.A.A. and A.A.U. I have no objection; neither do I object to being quoted on the part in reference to the win, lose or draw because I have a baseball team to coach and I have not seen any of them yet.

Our first baseball games are with Kansas State on April 7 and 8 in Lawrence--the dates having been changed from April 4 and 5 to this later date. The prospects at Kansas State are rosy and we have but one regular letterman returning who played on the regular team last year. Miller Cameron, our regular short-stop last year, enrolled at the University of Oklahoma this past fall so that he might play under Jap Haskell, where they encourage baseball decidedly. Larry Hensley, our regular center fielder, signed up with Detroit and he reports at Joplin in the next week. All the other players have graduated or like Monte Murkle, who caught last year, are staying out of baseball so they can play football next year and not spoil their football eligibility.

But we will talk about baseball later on. I assure you, however, I have had enough of basketball this winter because we just have not had the power, weight or height for our adversaries. We are thankful for all the things we have received,
