

Now, on this P. S. of yours - I started dictating this letter before I read that. You bet I remember the tough battles that we pulled through together, and I know that we could not have done it this year if it had not been for you and your dogged determination. You are a great competitor and I want you to put the same fight into your work down at Phillips that you always showed with us.

By the way, Fred, Elwyn, as you know, goes to Stillwater with Oklahoma A. & M. College, on August first. That is not very far away from you, and Elwyn tells me to tell you that he will be looking for you. Why don't you and Ray Ebling and some of the old gang run over and see him? Elwyn's address is 218 Lincoln Street, Stillwater, Oklahoma.

I am sending you our present basketball schedule, and since we play two games at Stillwater and one at Norman we may want you to make a real pep talk before the game in one of those dressing rooms. Now listen, Pralle, what would you tell them? You know, Fred, I used to say - first, you tell 'em what you're going to tell 'em, then you tell 'em, then you tell 'em what you told them, then they are told! Dees is chuckling while I am dictating this. He thinks you are not one of these after-dinner speakers. I told Dees, "Just give Fred the dinner and he will show you whether he is an after-dinner speaker or not".

Give our love to your wonderful family, and tell them that I am very fond of them. Lots of good luck, old fellow. I'm still a thousand per cent for you.

Very cordially yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
