Physical Education Classes Not a Haven for Paid Athletes

Chicago, Ill., March 29 (AP)—Dr. Delbert Oberteuffer of Ohio State spoke out Wednesday against an opinion he said was held in some academic quarters that a college physical education department is "a haven for recruited athletes."

Dr. Oberteuffer, a professor of physical education, made a survey of such departments at behest of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Reporting at the association's meeting, he said:

Anaylsis must disabuse the academicians or anyone else of any opinion that the professione al curriculum in physical education departments is lacking in respectability and as such is a haven of refuge for recruited athletes."

On the contrary, he said, staffs of college physical education departments "have a fine educational viewpoint . . . and try to do the job well under the apparent overshadowing cloud of the more spectacular athletic programs."

Dr. Oberteuffer said he talked with physical educationists, deans, presidents, biologists and other scientists of 10 institutions in the midwest, names of which he did not make public.

Joel Hunt, Ex-Bible Pupil, Gets Witte's Job at Wyoming

Laramie, Wyo., March 29 (U.P.) -Joel Hunt, former University of Georgia coach, was named head football coach and chairman of the Wyoming university athletic department Wednesday night by the trustees.

Hunt, a student of Dana Bible's at Texas A. and M., was one of the greatest broken field runners ever produced in the Southwestern conference. He succeeds Willard A. "Dutch" Witte, whose resignation as atheltic director will become effective June 1.

Everett Shelton, long time coach of top ranking Missouri Valley A. A. U. cage teams, was named basket ball mentor.

Together Hunt and Shelton will take over the job which Witte held for the last two years. Witte planned to enter business with his father at Fremont, Neb. Witte played football at Nebraska.

S. C. Calhoun, line coach at Mississippi State and formerly a Louisiana State grid star, was named assistant to Hunt.

Hunt accepted after Harry Gamage, South Dakota coach, rejected the offer. Gamage, former coach at Kentucky, said "terms and conditions" were unsatisfactory.

Will This Stop You Golfers?

Still, the Doc Says It's Worthwhile

Montreal, March 29 (U.P.)-Dr. A. S. Lamb, McGill university physical education director, told the City Improvement league Wednesday golf is good for public health because it keeps doctors outdoors and gives sick people a chance to get well.

"Public health is better because of golf, not because golf itself is healthful," he said.

"Golf increases the blood pressure, ruins the disposition, spoils the digestion, induces neurashtenia, hurts the eyes, callouses the hands, ties kinks in the nervous system, debauches the morals, drives men to drugs, drink and homicide, breaks up the family, turns the ductless glands into internal warts.

"It also corrodes the pneumogastric nerve, breaks the edges off the vertebrae, inducts spinal meningitis and progressive mendacity, starts angina pectoris, but it keeps the doctors out in the open air and gives the people in the hospitals and sickrooms a chance to get well."

Culture Need of Faculty, Boucher Says

Lincoln, March 29 (A)—Culture is the first essential today for a college faculty member, in contrast to yesteryear's demand for a prolific producers of research publication, is the opinion of Chancellor C. S. Boucher of the University of Nebraska.

"The faculty member who is most desired, because his is of greatest value in achieving the ideals of a college or university," Dr. Boucher said in an article in the current publication of the Association of American Colleges, "is a man or woman who is a capable producing scholar, an inspiring and effective teacher, and with a cultural force in the life and work of the institution."

Health Your Greatest Asset

Health is an asset that outweighs all others.

You may lose money, friends, power, prestige and even reputation, but if you have health and courage you can regain lost treasures, climb the heights again and look the sun in the face.

But when health is gone, money, power, prestige and friends cannot save you.

Health is a gift from nature, and one must obey her laws if he is to retain possession of his chiefest asset in life's struggle.

Nature has decreed that man must work in order to be healthy. That work must be such as to provide plenty of mental and physical exercise properly proportioned, or the individual must arrange his living outside of working hours to get the needed mental and physical activity in order to avoid a loss in health and happiness in health and happiness.

The man who does not work at all soon finds himself slipping on life's highway. Any faculty which is not used tends to deteriorate.

The man who works too hard is undermining his health and wrecking his life. Safety lies in pursuing the middle course of work and play happily proportioned.

The man who does not obtain both mental and physical exercise in his daily work and refuses to obtain it in some form of recreation has no one to blame but himself if the bloom of health fades from his cheeks.

The human system cannot stand a steady diet of hard work and no play. Abolish play and you would destroy happiness, outlaw laughter and you transform life into a gloomy funeral march from the cradle to the grave.

My dear "Phog":

Our fiscal year closed October 30th so we enclose statement showing basket ball goals sold from June 28th,1937 to October 30th,1937 inclusive.

You will note there is a total of $124\frac{1}{2}$ pairs, which certainly is not bad considering this period is not a basket ball playing period. Our check covering the royalty in the amount of \$31.13 will be enclosed.

As you know, we renewed our contract on goals and we find that this expires October 1st,1938. We do not have any basket ball in our line anymore with your name, and haven't had for some time so of course there is no royalty due on this item.

Very truly,
