Dear Ted:

I would not have missed you for anything in the world. Was at the meeting of our Selective Service Board. Just imagine my surprise and disappointment when I found that you were here in the flesh and had gone. We certainly want to see you sometime next week. Wire me my expense telling me when you may come. I don't want to miss you the next time.

Our second semester begins February 11. One of our star forwards, Stramel, leaves for sea duty this week. There is a spot open for you and we need you in the championship final grind. Wire me my expense telling me your possible intentions.

Kindest regards and best wishes.

Forrest C. Allen
