Dear Doc:-

No I did not get No. 17 so the rereading of the story of the Iowa State game was great fun.

Did I ever tell you the sequel?

One day in the office I received a call from Glendale, California. A parent wanted his boy to transfer from Chicago U. to Stanford. In identifying ~~myself~~ himself, he said I am "Red" Paine the coach at Iowa State in 1920 when my team got dreamed out of a football game by that lucky psychic "Phog" Allen. From that point on we had a great time over the phone at his expense.

And if you think Red does not to this day suffer as a result of that game, just bid him about sometime. He is a good scout but its a serious matter and I think he feels a humiliation to be "dreamed" out of a game.

I am sitting here awaiting transportation for Europe, which may be the beginning of my return to an active part in athletics. I can't get it out of my blood.

Thanks sincerely. John.
sorry to see Mr. Hutton leave.
