To my mind, the two things, while closely allied, are different things. Some time I would be glad to talk to you about it. However, I know you will have some opinions in regard to it, and after all, since you are the one to be responsible, your opinions should have the most weight. What I am trying to say, I guess, is - beware of the fellows who ask you to set your department up on the health education basis rather than the physical education basis.

With personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours
