

or are on their way to completion of those degrees whose basic preparation in biology, anatomy, physiology, psychology, and hygiene, give them the foundation they need for giving courses in hygiene and physical education. I do not know of anyone available with a Ph.D., or who is close to a Ph.D. degree who could be lured away from his present appointment at the salary you indicate. I have been trying for three years to find a very competent man to accept appointment here as a Professor of Hygiene and Physical Education who would bring the sort of a basic preparation we need in biology and the other subjects indicated above and so far have found no one who would come at the much higher salary we have had available.

If, after further consideration, you would be interested in suggestions I might make of holders of less advanced degrees, but of fine promise and adequate fundamental preparation, I should be very glad to suggest them to you.

If there is anything I can do to help you with your problem, you may be sure I shall be glad to have the opportunity.

With best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

THOMAS A. STOREY, M.D.
