

November 4, 1938.

Miss Jane Byrn,
Department of Physical Education,
University of Kansas.

Dear Miss Byrn:

Two tough breaks at one time are too much. The suspected fracture of the bone, together with the break of hard luck which kept you from your work that you are so well doing, together with the financial break, makes a triple fracture.

We trust that these enclosed splints will heal all the trouble and put you back well on the road to recovery. And we hope, further, that no other bad breaks will come your way.

I might add that these splints came from sweets masticated by the student body.

Very cordially yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
