ΔΕΛΤΑ ΕΠΙΧΕΙΡΗΣΕΩΣ ΛΟΝΔΑ

Dear Stella:

I am sorry that I have delayed in answering your letter. You know, Stella, I would not be adverse to letting Put play football so far as his lungs are concerned. Those patches generally become insistent and if he is not running a temperature, frankly, I think athletics would keep him in bounds better than denying him the right to do so.

You tell Put we will be glad to have him here in K.U. when he finishes. The high blood pressure is something that he should have very good advice upon. I would certainly consult a physician and follow his advice regarding the high blood pressure. If you should rule out football, I still believe if the doctor passes on his high blood pressure I would let him play basketball because it is not nearly so strenuous and not as punishing a sport.

We are mailing you a catalog. If there is anything that we have not answered for you that you cannot find in the catalog, please feel perfectly free to write me because it would be a pleasure to help you in any way that I can.

Please congratulate Put for me for his thrift and energy in saving over $200. That is a marvelous income and I know that he will appreciate it when this war is over because things will certainly take a drop in the post-war world and these dollars now will be worth several. A bird in the hand, - you know. I am glad Put is taking voice lessons because all the Allens that I have known could not carry a tune in a hod and I would like to see one Allen that could sing! This must come from your side of the house.

Now, you ask about Hubert. I certainly would say that he owes that $500. I didn't have any idea that you had put any money into it. It is too darn bad that you did that, but I believe Hubert is enough of a man that if you would write him he would certainly come through. You shouldn't have to write him, but I certainly wouldn't hold back a minute in doing so. I, too, had a lot of work done and always paid promptly the bills, but they never asked me to put in any and I certainly would not have done so because, Stella, I always feel that the best way is to handle your own money. It is an interesting thing how people work hard for money, save it, and then loan it to someone else to lose for them.
