

October 16, 1939.

Dear Mary:

It was a great pleasure to hear your voice over the phone this morning. I am glad that you and Pete and Bondy and Mrs. Bondy are going to get away for a nice trip to Chicago. I know you will enjoy it, and it is an added treat for me to be able to buy these tickets for you people.

I know that you cannot afford it with the family that you have and in this way it will be a courtesy that you and Pete can extend to the Bondys. I enjoyed their hospitality and their company so much when I was down there, so please do not feel that you are imposing at all.

You know I just wrote you about how thoroughly I enjoyed my golf jacket, and I felt that you two spent too much on this when you needed your finances at more advantageous places. So just feel that it is a real pleasure for me to do this.

With love to all, I am

Affectionately, Your Dad

Mrs. L. P. Hamilton,
Anchorage, Kentucky.