

May 13, 1940.

Mr. Milton P. Allen,
Ellinwood, Kansas.

Dear Milton:

The county is Johnson County, Warrensburg, Missouri. You always write to the county clerk. The Bureau of Vital Statistics is located at Jefferson City, Missouri.

Milton, when a fellow goes to the University he learns where to obtain sources, and I believe if you would have just used your judgment you could have called any physician there in Ellinwood and he would have told you the place to write. However, I am doing this for you so as to save the delay.

But again, you sent a special delivery letter and spent 15¢. Had you spent but 3¢ of this and mailed it to Warrensburg to Dr. Scofield he would have given you this information.

I am asking the county clerk at Warrensburg to send this to you at Ellinwood. And Milton, what difference would it make since you knew the town and you knew that was the county seat, whether you wrote it Johnson County or not?

I am just rushing to get this off to you and I will write you a more fulsome letter later. I enjoyed my short visit with you and Isabel and Judy, but I promise a longer letter with more information later. If you ever have an opportunity to see the play, "My Son, My Son", be sure to see it - not because there is anything that reflects upon you, but there is one sure thing - the danger that it emphasizes of a parent doing too much for his child.

With love, I am

Affectionately, Your Dad,

FCA:AH

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball Coach.