

N. C. P. T.

Notice: The address of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is 600 South Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Jesse Wire, Chairman

Is your association still without a subscription copy of the National Parent-Teacher? If so, will you do something about it as soon as possible?

Each local association should have at least three subscriptions to the National magazine, one for the president, one for the principal's office and one for circulation among members of the executive committee.

Only when every P.T.A. has a copy coming each month, will our National Wartime program be one hundred per cent effective. Will you make an extra effort now to have your association purchase these subscriptions, so that vital information may reach your unit.

The National Parent-Teacher is the official magazine of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. James K. Lytle, of Los Angeles, Calif., today was nominated for the presidency of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, parent body of the nation's 28,000 parent-teacher associations with 2,685,000 members.

Other nominees include Mrs. L. W. Hughes, of Arlington, Tenn., for first vice-president; Mrs. H. S. Klein, of Huntington, W. Va., for secretary; and Mr. J. W. Faust, of East Orange, N. J., for treasurer. Voting is not limited to the nominees presented by the nominating committee.

Balloting will begin April 25 and close on May 11. The tabulation will be on May 12, and results will be announced at the meeting of the Board of Managers in Chicago at that time.

Mrs. Lytle, who currently is serving as treasurer of the National Congress, is a native of Tennessee but has made her home since 1912 in California where she has been prominent in civic and social welfare activities for many years. She became a member of the Board of Managers in 1938, as president of the California Congress.

Mrs. Hughes, nominee for first vice-president, is now chairman of the Membership committee of the National Congress and formerly was president of the Tennessee Congress.

Mrs. Klein, nominee for secretary, recently was president of the West Virginia Congress and has long been active in the parent-teacher movement in executive capacities in her state.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROJECTS ATTENTION

February 22, 1943

National Congress of Parents and Teachers,

Attention: Mrs. William Kletzer,
President.

Madam:

Reference is made to your letter of February 10, 1943, in which information is requested relative to coloring oleomargarine for use in school lunches.

You state that due to the scarcity of butter, it is found that it may be necessary to substitute oleomargarine and although the vitamin fortified oleomargarine has food value the absence of color in the uncolored product lacks appetite appeal when served to children.

Public school cafeterias do not fall within the category of institutions which would be exempt from liability to special tax under article 21(b) (2) Regulations 9.

Uncolored oleomargarine may be used in the preparation of food in any form and the special or commodity taxes will not be incurred by the one so using it. However, if the uncolored oleomargarine is colored for use in lieu of butter in school lunches, or in the preparation of other food where the oleomargarine does not lose its identity as a distinct article of food, tax liability as a manufacturer of colored oleomargarine is incurred under the provisions of section 3200 of the Internal Revenue Code in addition to the commodity tax of 10 cents per pound imposed by section 2301(a) of the Code on the quantity of oleomargarine colored.

There are no restrictions on the use of the product which is colored when purchased. It may be used in lieu of butter in any manner without incurring liability to tax. However, if the colored product is mixed with butter for the purpose of increasing the amount of butter, the resultant product would be colored oleomargarine and the person so mixing the butter with colored oleomargarine, would be liable to the special and stamp taxes as a manufacturer of colored oleomargarine as indicated above.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Adelbert Christy,
Acting Deputy Commissioner.
